PROLOGUE.

W^OU^D some Man could instruct me what to say :
 For this same Prologue, usual to a Play,
 Is tied to such an old Form of Petition ;
 Men must say nothing now beyond Commission :
 The Cloaks we wear, the Legs we make, the Place
 We stand in, must be one ; and one the Face.
 Nor alter'd, nor exceed'd ; if it be,
 A general His hangs on our Liberty.
 We have a Play, a new Play to play now,
 And thus low in our Play's Behalf we bow :
 We bow to beg your Suffrage and kind Ear ;
 If it were naught, or that it might appear
 A Thing budy'd up by Prayer, Gentlemen,
 Believe my Faith, you shou'd not see me then.
 Let them speak then who've Power to stop a Storm :
 I never lov'd to feel a House so warm :
 But for the Play, if you dare credit me,
 I think it well : All new Things you shall see,
 And these dispos'd to all the Merits that may ;
 And short enough we hope : And such a Play
 You were wont to like. Sit nobly then and see ?
 If it miscarry, pray look not for me.

EPILOGUE,

Spoke by the Lieutenant.

I Am not cur'd yet thoroughly ; for believe
 I feel another Passion that may grieve,
 All over me I feel it too : And now
 It takes me cold, cold, cold, I know not how :
 As you are good Men help me, a Carouse
 May make me love you all, all here i' th' House,
 And all that come to see me doatingly :
 Now lend your Hands ; and for your Courtesie,
 The next Employment I am sent upon,
 'll swear you are Physicians, The War's none.

SCENE, GREECE

HUMOROUS LIEUTENANT.

ACT I. SCENE I.

Enter two Ushers, and Grooms, with Perfumes.

1 USHER.

ROUND, round, perfume it round, quick, look ye diligently
The State be right; are these the richest Cushions?

Fie, fie, who waits i' th' Wardrobe?

2 Ush. But, pray, tell me,
Do you think for certain these Embassadors
Shall have this Morning Audience.

1 Ush. They shall have it:
Lord, that you live at Court and understand not!
I tell you, they must have it.

2 Ush. Upon what Necessity? [Place,

1 Ush. Still you are out o'th' Trick of Court, sell your Enter Ladies and Gentlemen.

And sow your Grounds, you are not for this Tillage.
Madams, the best Way is the upper Lodgings,
There you may see at Ease.

Ladies. We thank you, Sir. [Ex. Ladies and Gent.

1 Ush. Wou'd you have all these slighted? Who should report then,

The Embassadors were handsome Men? His Beard
A neat one? The Fire of his Eyes quicker than Lightning,
And, when it breaks, as blasting? His Legs tho' little ones,
Yet Movers of a Mass of Understanding?

Who shall commend their Cloaths? Who shall take Na-
Of the most wise Behaviour of their Feathers? [sings]
Ye live a raw Man here. 2 Uss. I think, I do so.

Enter two Citizens, and Wives.

1 Uss. Why, whither wou'd ye all press?

1 Cit. Good Master Usher. ———

2 Cit. My Wife, and some few of my honest Neighbours here, ———

1 Uss. Prithce, be gone, thou and thy honest Neighbours;

Thou look'st like an Ass; why, whither wou'd you,
Fish-face!

2 Cit. If I might have

But the Honour to see you at my poor House, Sir,
A Capon bridled and saddled, I'll assure your Worshipp,
A Shoulder of Mutton and a pottle of Wine, Sir,
I knew your Brother once, he was as like ye,
And shot the best at Butts ———

1 Uss. A Plague upon thee!

2 Cit. Some Music I'll assure you too, my Toy, Sir,
Can play o'th' Virginals. 1 Uss. Prithce, good Toy,
Take away thy Shoulder of Mutton, it is Fly-blown;
And, Shoulder, take thy Flap along, here's no Place for Nay, then, you had best be knock'd. [ye]

[Exit Citizens.]

Enter Celia.

Cel. I wou'd fain see him;
The Glory of this Place makes me remember, ———
(But die those Thoughts, die all but my Desires!
Even those to Death are sick too;) he's not here,
Nor how my Eyes may guide me ———

1 Uss. What's your Business? [sings]
Who keeps the outward Door there? Here's fine Shuff-
You Waitcoatier, you must go back.

Cel. There is not,
There cannot be, (six Days, and never see me?)
There must not be Desire: Sir, do you think,
That if you had a Mistress ———

1 Uss. Death! she's mad.

Cel. And were yourself an honest Man? It cannot —

1 Uss. What a Devil hast thou to do with me or
My Honesty? Will you be jogging, good nimble Tongue,
My

My Fellow Door-keeper.

2 Uss. Prithee let her alone.

1 Uss. The King is coming,
And shall we have an Agent from the Suburbs
Come to crave Audience too?

Col. Before I thought ye
To have a little Breeding, some Tang of Gentry;
But now I take ye plainly, without the Help
Of any Perspective, for that ye cannot alter.

1 Uss. What's that?

Col. An Ass, Sir, you do bray as like one,
And, by my Troth, methinks, as ye stand now,
Considering who to kick next, you appear to me
Just with that Kind of Gravity, and Wisdom;
Your Place may bear the Name of Gentleman:
But if ever any of that Butter stick to your Bread—

2 Uss. You must be modest.

Col. Let him use me nobler,
And wear good Cloaths to do good Offices;
They hang upon a Fellow of his Virtue,
As though they hung on Gibbets.

2 Uss. A perillous Wench.

1 Uss. Thrust her into a Corner, I'll no more on her.

2 Uss. You have enough; go, pretty Maid, stand close,
And use that little Tongue, with a little more Temper.

Col. I thank ye, Sir.

2 Uss. When the Show's past,
I'll have ye into the Cellar, there we'll dine.
A very pretty Wench, a witty Rogue,
And there we'll be as merry; can ye be merry?

Col. O, very merry.

2 Uss. Only ourselves; this churlish Fellow shall not

Col. By no Means.

[knows]

2 Uss. And can you love a little?

Col. Love exceedingly:

I have Cause to love you, dear Sir.

2 Uss. Then I'll carry ye,

And shew you all the Pictures, and the Hangings,
The Lodgings, Gardens, and the Walks: And then,
Sweet,

You shall tell me where you lie.

Col. Yes, marry, will I.

2 Ufb. And't shall go hard but I'll send you a Venison
And bring a Bottle of Wine along. [Paffy,

1 Ufb. Make Room there!

2 Ufb. Room there, afore! Stand close, the Train is coming.

Enter King Antigonus, Timon, Charinthus, Menippus.

Cel. Have I yet left a Beauty to catch Fools?

Yet, yet, I see him not. O what a Misery

Is Love, expected long, deluded longer!

Ant. Conduct in the Embassadors.

1 Ufb. Make Room there!

Ant. They shall not wait long Answer—

[Flourish.

Cel. Yet he comes not.

Enter three Embassadors.

Why are Eyes set on these, and Multitudes

Follow to make these Wonders? O good Gods?

What would these look like, if my Love were here?

But I am fond, forgetful.

Ant. Now your Grievance,

Speak, short, and have as short Dispatch.

1 Emb. Then thus, Sir:

In all our Royal Masters' Names, We tell you,

Ye have done Injustice, broke the Bonds of Concord;

And from their equal Shares, from Alexander

Parted, and so possess'd, not like a Brother,

But as an open Enemy, ye have hedged in Whole Provinces, mann'd and maintain'd these Injuries;

And daily with your Sword, tho' they still honour ye,

Make bloody Roads, take Towns, and ruin Castles,

And still their Sufferance feels the Weight.

2 Emb. Think of that Love, great Sir, that Honour'd
Friendship

Yourself held with our Masters; think of that Strength,

When you were all one Body, all one Mind;

When all your Swords struck one Way; when your Angers,

Like so many Brother Billows rose together,

And, curling up your foaming Crests, defied

Even mighty Kings, and in their Falls entomb'd 'em;

O think of these; and you, that have been Conqu'rors,

That ever led your Fortunes open-ey'd,

Chain'd fast by Confidence; you that Fame courted,

Now ye want Enemies and Men to match ye,

Let

Let not your own Swords seek your Ends to shame ye.

Enter Demetrius with a Javelin, and Gentlemen.

3 Emb. Chuse which you will, or Peace or War,
We come

Prepar'd for either.

1 Urb. Room for the Prince there!

Cel. Was it the Prince, they said? How my Heart trembled!

'Tis he, indeed; what a sweet noble Fierceness
Dwells in his Eyes! Young Meleager-like,
When he return'd from Slaughter of the Boar,
Crown'd with the Loves and Honours of the People,
With all the gallant Youth of Greece, he looks now.
Who could deny him Love?

Dem. Hail, Royal Father!

Ant. Ye are welcome from your Sport, Sir; do you see this Gentleman,

You that bring Thunders in your Mouths, and Earthquakes

To shake and totter my Designs? Can you imagine,
You Men of poor and common Apprehensions,
While I admit this Man my Son, this Nature,
That in one Look carries more Fire, and Fierceness,
Than all your Masters in their Lives; dare I admit him,
Admit him thus, even to my Side, my Bosom,
When he is fit to rule, when all Men cry him,
And all Hopes hang about his Head; thus place him,
His Weapon hatch'd in Blood, all these attending
When he shall make their Fortunes, all as sudden
In any Expedition he shall point 'em,
As Arrows from a Tartar's Bow, and speeding,
Dare I do this, and fear an Enemy?

Fear your great Master? Yours? or Yours?

Dem. O Hercules!

Who says, you do, Sir? Is there any Thing
In these Mens Faces, or their Masters' Actions,
Able to work such Wonders?

Cel. Now he speaks:

O, I could dwell upon that Tongue for ever!

Dem. You call 'em Kings, they never wore those Roy-
Nor in the Progress of their Lives arriv'd yet [aloud]
As any Thought of King: Imperial Dignities,

And powerful Godlike Actions, fit for Princes,
They can no more put on, and make 'em sit right,
Than I can with this mortal Hand hold Heav'n:

Poor petty Men, nor have I yet forgot

The chiefest Honours Time and Merit gave 'em:

Isimachus, your Master, at the best,

His highest and his hopefullst Dignities,

Was but Grand-master of the Elephants;

Seleucus, of the Treasure; and for Ptolemy,

A Thing not thought on then, scarce heard of yet,

Some Master of Munition: And must these Men—

Cel. What a brave Confidence flows from his Spirit!
O sweet young Man!

Dem. Must these hold Place with us,

And on the same File hang their Memories?

Must these examine what the Wills of Kings are?

Prescribe to their Designs, and chain their Actions

To their Restraints? be Friends and Foes when they please?

Send out their Thunders, and their Menaces,

As if the Fate of mortal Things were theirs?

Go home, good Men, and tell your Masters, from us,

We do 'em too much Honour to force from 'em

Their barren Countries, ruin their waste Cities;

And tell 'em, out of Love we mean to leave 'em,

Since they will needs be Kings, no more to tread on,

Than they have able Wits and Pow'rs to manage;

And so we shall besmear 'em. Hat what does she there?

Emil. This is your Answer, King?

Ant. 'Tis like to prove so.

Dem. Fye, Sweet, what makes you here?

Cel. Pray you, do not chide me.

Dem. You do yourself much Wrong, and me.

Cel. Pray you, pardon me,

I feel my Fault, which only was committed

Through my dear Love to you: I have not seen ye,

And how can I live then? I have not spoke to ye—

Dem. I know, this Week ye have not; I will redeem all;

You are so tender now; think, where you are, Sweet.

Cel. What other Light have I lost?

Dem. Prinbee, Celia,

Indeed, I'll see you presently.

Cel. I have done, Sir:

You

You will not miss?

Dem. By this, and this, I will not.

Cel. 'Tis in your Will, and I must be obedient.

Dem. No more of these Assemblies.

Cel. I am commanded.

1 Ufb. Room for the Lady there! Madam, my Service—

1 Gent. My Coach, an't please you, Lady.

2 Ufb. Room before, there!

2 Gent. The Honour, Madam, but to wait upon you—
My Servants and my State.

Cel. Lord, how they flock now?

Before I was afraid, they would have beat me;
How these Elies play i'th Sun-shine? pray ye no Services;
Or, if ye needs must play the Hobby-horses,
Seek out some Beauty that affects 'em: Farewel,
Nay, pray ye, spare, Gentlemen, I am old enough
To go alone at these Years, without Crutches. [Exit.]

2 Ufb. Well, I could curse now: But that will not help me.

I made as sure Account of this Wench now, immediately,
Do but consider how the Devil has crost me,
Meat for my Master, she cries; well——

3 Emb. Once more, Sir,

We ask your Resolutions: Peace, or War, yet?

Dem. War, war, my noble Father.

1 Emb. Thus I fling it:

And fair-ey'd Peace, farewell!

Ant. You have your Answer;

Conduct out the Embassadors, and give 'em Convoys.

Dem. Tell your high-hearted Masters, they shall not seek us,

Nor cool i'th Field in Expectation of us,
We'll ease your Men those Marches: In their Strengths,
And full Abilities of Mind and Courage
We'll find 'em out, and at their best Trim buckle with 'em.

3 Emb. You will find so hot a Soldier's Welcome, Sir;
Your Favour shall not freeze.

2 Emb. A forward Gentleman,
Pray, the War should bruise such Hopes——

Ant. Conduct 'em——

[Exit Emb.]

Now for this Preparation. Where's Leontius?

Call him in presently; For I mean in Person,

Gentlemen,

Gentlemen, myself, with my old Fortune——

Dem. Royal Sir,

Thus low I beg this Honour: Fame already
Hath every where rais'd Trophies to your Glory,
And Conquest now grown old, and weak with following
The weary Marches, and the bloody Shocks

You daily set her in; 'Tis now scarce Honour
For you, that never knew to fight, but conquer,
To sparkle such poor People: The Royal Eagle,
When she hath try'd her young ones 'gainst the Sun,
And found 'em right; next teacheth 'em to prey;
How to command on Wing, and check below her
Ev'n Birds of noble Plume; I am your own, Sir,
You have found my Spirit, try it now, and teach it
To stoop whole Kingdoms: Leave a little for me:

Let not your Glory be so greedy, Sir,
To eat up all my Hopes; you gave me Life,
If to that Life you add not what's more lasting,
A noble Name, for Man, you have made a Shadow.

Bless me this Day: Bid me go on, and lead,
Bid me go on, no less fear'd than Antigonus;
And to my maiden Sword tie fast your Fortune:
I know, 'twill fight itself then. Dear Sir, honour me:
Never fair Virgin long'd so.

Ant. Rise, and command then,

And be as fortunate, as I expect ye:
I love that noble Will; your young Companions,
Bred up and foster'd with ye, I hope, Demetrius,
You will make Soldiers too; they must not leave ye.

Enter Leontius.

2 Gent. Never till Life leave us, Sir.

Ant. O Leontius,

Here's Work for you in Hand.

Leon. I am ev'n right-glad, Sir.

For, by my Troth, I am now grown old with Idleness;
I hear, we shall abroad, Sir.

Ant. Yes, and presently:

But who, think you, commands now?

Leon. Who commands, Sir?

Metinks, mine Eye should guide me: Can there be,
If you yourself will spare him so much Honour,
Any sound out to lead before your Armies,

So fall of Faith, and Fire, as brave Demetrius ?
King Philip's Son, at his Years, was an old Soldier,
'Tis Time his Fortune be o'th' Wing, high Time, Sir ;
So many idle Hours, as here he loiters,
So many ever-living Names he loses :
I hope, 'tis he.

Ant. 'Tis he, indeed, and nobly
He shall set forward : Draw you all those Garrisons
Upon the Frontiers as you pass : To those
Join these in Pay at home, our ancient Soldiers ;
And, as you go, press all the Provinces.

Leon. We shall not need ;
Believe, this hopeful Gentleman
Can want no Swords, nor honest Hearts to follow him ;
We shall be full, no Fear, Sir. Ant. You, Leontius,
Because you are an old and faithful Servant,
And know the Wars, with all his Vantages,
Be near to his Instructions ; lest his Youth
Lose Valour's best Companion, staid Discretion ;
Shew where to lead, to lodge, to charge with Safety ;
In Execution not to break, nor scatter,
But, with a provident Anger, follow nobly :
Not covetous of Blood, and Death, but Honour.
Be ever near his Watches ; cheer his Labours,
And, where his Hope stands fair, provoke his Valour ;
Love him, and think it no Dishonour, my Demetrius,
To wear this Jewel near thee ; he is a try'd one,
And one, that ev'n in Spite of Time, that sunk him,
And frosted up his Strength, will yet stand by thee,
And with the proudest of thine Enemies
Exchange for Blood, and bravely : Take his Counsel.

Leon. Your Grace hath made me young again, and

Ant. She must be known, and suddenly : [wanton.
Do you know her? [To Menippus.

Genl. Char. No, believe, Sir.

Ant. Did you observe her, Timon ?

Tim. I look'd on her,
But what she is, Sir——

Ant. I must have that found.
Come in, and take your Leave.

Tim. And some few Prayers along

Dem. I know my Duty, [Exit Ant.
You

You shall be half my Father.

Leon. All your Servant :

Come, Gentlemen, you are resolv'd, I am sure,
To see these Wars.

Gent. We dare not leave his Fortunes,
Though most assured Death hung round about us.

Leon. That Bargain's yet to make ;
Be not too hasty, when ye face the Enemy,
Nor too ambitious to get Honour instantly ;
But charge within your Bounds, and keep close Bodies,
And you shall see what Sport we'll make these Mad-caps ;
You shall have Game enough I warrant ye,
Every Man's Cock shall fight.

Dem. I must go see her :
Brave Sir, as soon as I have taken Leave,
I'll meet you in the Park ; Draw the Men thither,
Wait you upon Leontius.

Gent. We'll attend, Sir.

Leon. But I beseech your Grace, with Speed ; the
We are i'th the Field ——— [fooner]

Dem. You could not please me better. [Exit.]

Leon. You never saw the Wars yet ?

Gent. Not yet, Colonel.

Leon. These foolish Mistresses do so hang about ye,
So whimper, and so hug, I know it, Gentlemen,
And so intice ye, now ye are i'th' Bud ;
And that sweet tilting War, with Eyes and Kisses,
Th' Alarms of soft Vows, Sighs, and Fiddle-faddles,
Spoil all our Trade : You must forget these Knick-knacks,
A Woman, at some time of Year, I grant ye,
Is necessary, but make no Business of her.
How now, Lieutenant ?

Enter Lieutenant.

Lien. Oh, Sir, as ill as ever ;
We shall have Wars, they say ; they are Mustring yonder :
Wou'd we were at it once : Fie, how it plagueth me !

Leon. Here's one has serv'd now under Captain Cupid,
And crack'd a Pike in's Youth : You see, what's come on't.

Lien. No, my Disease will never prove so honourable.

Leon. Why, sure, thou hast the best Dox.

Lien. If I have 'em,
I am sure I got 'em in the best Company ;

They.

They are Pox of thirty Coats.

Leon. Thou hast mewed 'em finely :
Here's a strange Fellow now, and a brave Fellow,
If we may say so of a pocky Fellow,
Which I believe we may, this poor Lieutenant ;
Whether he have the Scratches, or the Seabs,
Or what a Devil it be, I'll say this for him,
There fights no braver Soldier under Sun, Gentlemen.
Show him an Enemy, his Pain's forgot straight ;
And where other Men by Beds and Baths have Ease,
And easy Rules of Physick ; set him in a Danger,
A Danger, that's a fearful one indeed,
Ye rock him, and he will so play about ye,
Let it be ten to one he ne'er comes off again.
Ye have his Heart : And then he works it bravely,
And throughly bravely : Not a Rang remembered :
I have seen him do such things, Belief would shrink at

Gent. 'Tis strange, he should do all this, and diseas'd so.

Leon. I am sure, 'tis true : Lieutenant, canst thou drink well ?

Lieu. Would I were drunk, Dog-drunk, I might not feel this.

Gent. I would take Physic.

Lieu. But I would know my Disease first.

Leon. Why ? it may be the Cholick : Canst thou blow backward ?

Lieu. There's never a Bag-pipe in the Kingdom Better

Gent. Is't not a Pleurisy ?

Lieu. 'Tis any thing.

That has the Devil and Death in't : Will ye march Gen-
The Prince has taken Leave.

[Gentlemen]

Leon. How know ye that ?

Lieu. I saw him leave the Court, dispatch his Follow-
And met him after in a By-street : I think.

[Gent.]

He has some Wench, or such a Toy, to lick over
Before he go : Wou'd, I had such another
To draw this foolish Pain down.

Leon. Let's away, Gentlemen,
For, sure, the Prince will stay on us.

Gent. We'll attend, Sir.

[Exeunt.]

SCENE

SCENE II. Enter Demetrius and Celia.

Cel. Must ye needs go?

Dem. Or stay with all Dishonour.

Cel. Are there not Men enough to fight?

Dem. Fie, Celia,

This ill becomes the noble Love you bear me;

Would you have your Love a Coward?

Cel. No; believe me, Sir,

I would have him fight, but not so far off from me.

Dem. Wouldst have it thus? or thus?

Cel. If that be Fighting——

Dem. Ye wanton Fool; When I come home again,

I'll fight with thee, at thine own Weapon, Celia;

And conquer thee too.

Cel. That you have done already,

You need no other Arms to me, but these, Sir;

But will you fight yourself, Sir?

Dem. Thus deep in Blood, Wench,
And through the thickest Ranks of Pikes.

Cel. Spur bravely

Your fiery Courser, beat the Troops before ye,
And cram the Mouth of Death with Executions.

Dem. I would do more than these. But prithee, tell me,
Tell me, my Fair, where got'st thou this Male Spirit?
I wonder at thy Mind.

Cel. Were I a Man then,

You would wonder more.

Dem. Sure thou would'st prove a Soldier,
And some great Leader.

Cel. Sure, I should do somewhat;
And the first Thing I did, I shou'd grow envious,
Extreamly envious of your Youth and Honour.

Dem. And fight against me?

Cel. Ten to one I should do it.

Dem. Thou would'st not hurt me?

Cel. In this Mind I am in,

I think, I should be hardly brought to strike ye,
Unless 'twere thus; but in my Man's Mind——

Dem. What?

Cel. I shou'd be Friends with you too now I think better.

Dem. Ye are a tall Soldier: Here take these, and these;
This Gold to furnish ye, and keep this Bracelet;

Why

Why do you weep now ? You a masculine Spirit ?

Cel. No, I confess, I am a Fool, a Woman :
And ever when I part with you—Dem. You shall not,
These Tears are like prodigious Signs, my Sweet one ;
I shall come back, loaden with Fame, to honour thee.

Cel. I hope, you shall : But then, my dear Demetrius,
When you stand Conqueror, and at your Mercy
All People bow, and all Things wait your Sentence ;
Say then, your Eye, surveying all your Conquest,
Find out a Beauty, even in Sorrow excellent,
A constant Face, that in the midst of Ruin
With a forc'd Smile, both scorns at Fate, and Fortune :
Say, you find such a one, so nobly fortified,
And in her Figure all the Sweets of Nature, ———

Dem. Prithee, no more of this, I cannot find her.

Cel. That shews as far beyond my wither'd Beauty ;
And will run mad to love ye too—

Dem. Do you fear me,
And do you think, besides this Face, this Beauty,
This Heart where all my Hopes are lock'd —

Cel. I dare not :
No, sure, I think ye honest ; wondrous honest.
Pray, do not frown, I'll swear ye are.

Dem. Ye may chuse.

Cel. But how long will ye be away ?

Dem. I know not.

Cel. I know, you are angry now : pray, look upon me :
I'll ask no more such Questions.

Dem. The Drums beat,
I can no longer stay.

Cel. They do but call yet :
How fain you would leave my Company ?

Dem. I wou'd not,
Unless a greater Pow'r than Love commanded,
Commands my Life, mine Honour.

Cel. But a little.

Dem. Prithee, farewell, and be not doubtful of me.

Cel. I wou'd not have ye hurt : And ye are so ventrous—
But, good sweet Prince, preserve yourself, fight nobly,
But do not thrust this Body, ('tis not yours now,
'Tis mine, 'tis only mine :) Do not seek Wounds, Sir,
For every drop of Blood you bleed ———

Dem.

Dem. I will, Celia,
I will be carefull.

Cel. My Heart that loves ye dearly—

Dem. Prithce, no more, we must part :

[Drums beat a March.]

Hark, they march now !

Cel. Poz on these bawling Drums ! I am sure, you'll kiss me ;

But one Kiss ? what a Parting's this ?

Dem. Here take me,
And do what thou wilt with me, smother me ;
But still remember, if your Fooling with me
Make me forget the Trust —

Cel. I have done ; Farewell, Sir,
Never look back, you shall not stay, not a Minute ;

Dem. I must have one Farewell more ;

Cel. No, the Drums beat ;
I dare not slack your honour ; Not a hand more ;
Only this Look — the Gods preserve, and save ye !

[Exeunt severally.]

ACT II. SCENE I.

Enter Antigonus, Charinthus, and Timon.

Ant. WHAT, have ye found her out ?

Char. We have hearkened after her.

Ant. What's that to my Desire ?

Char. Your Grace must give us Time,
And a little Means.

Tim. She is, sure, a Stranger,
If she were bred or known here —

Ant. Your dull Endeavours

Enter Menippus.

Should never be employ'd. Welcome, Menippus.

Men. I have found her, Sir,

I mean, the Place she's lodg'd in ; her Name is Celia ;
And much Ade I had to purchase that too.

Ant. Dost think, Demetrius loves her ?

Men. Much I fear it.

But nothing that Way yet can win for certain.
I'll tell your Grace within this Hour.

Ant.

Ant. A Stranger ?

Men. Without all Doubt.

Ant. But how shou'd he come to her ?

Men. There lies the Marrow of the Matter hid yet.

Ant. Hast thou been with thy Wife ?

Men. No, Sir, I am going to her.

Ant. Go and dispatch, and meet me in the Garden.
And get all out ye can.

Men. I'll do my best, Sir.

Tim. Blest be thy Wife, thou wert an arrant Asaella

Char. Ay, she is a stirring Woman, indeed :

There's a Brain, Brother.

Tim. There's not a handsome Wench of any Maile
Within a hundred Miles, but her Intelligence
Reaches her, and out-reaches her, and brings her
As confidently to Court, as to a Sanctuary.
What had his mouldy Brains ever arriv'd at,
Had not the beaten it out oth' Flint to fasten him ?
They say, she keeps an Office of Concealments :
There is no young Wench, let her be a Saint,
Unless she live i'th' Center, but she finds her,
And every Way prepares Addresses to her :
If my Wife wou'd have followed her Course, Charinus,
Her lucky Course, I'd had the Day before him :
O what might I have been by this Time, Brother ?
But she, forsooth, when I put these Things to her,
These Things of honest Thrift, groans, O my Conscience,
The Load upon my Conscience, when to make us Cuckolds.
They have no more Burden than a Brood goose, Brathens,
But let's do what we can, though this Wench fail us,
Another of a new Way will be look'd at :
Come, let's abroad, and beat our Brains ; Time may,
For all his Wisdom, yet give us a Day.

S C E N E II. Drum within, Alarm, Enter Demetrius and Leontius.

Dem. I will not see 'em fall thus, give me Way, Sir,
I shall forget you love me else.

Leon. Will ye lose all ?

For me to be forgotten, to be hated,
Nay, never to have been a Man, is nothing ;
So you, and those we have preserv'd from Slaughter.
Come safely off. Dem. I have lost myself.

Leon.

Leon. You are cozen'd.

Dem. And am most miserable.

Leon. There's no Man so,
But he that makes himself so.

Dem. I will go on.

Leon. You must not : I shall tell you then,
And tell you true, that Man's unfit to govern,
That cannot guide himself : You lead an Army ?
That have not so much manly Suff'rance left ye,
To bear a Loss ?

Dem. Charge but once more, Leontius,
My Friends and my Companions are engag'd all.

Leon. Nay, give 'em lost, I saw 'em off their Horses,
And the Enemy Master of their Arms ; nor cou'd then
The Policy, nor Strength of Man redeem 'em.

Dem. And shall I know this, and stand Fooling ?

Leon. By my dear Father's Soul, you stir not, Sir ;
Or, if you do, you make your Way through me first.

Dem. Thou art a Coward.

Leon. To prevent a Madman.

None but your Father's Son durst call me so ;
'Death, if he did — Must I be scandal'd by ye ?
That hedg'd in all the Helps I had to save ye ?
That, where there was a valiant Weapon stirring,
Both search'd it out, and singled it, unedg'd it,
For fear it should bite you ; am I a Coward ?
Go, get ye up, and tell 'em ye are the King's Son ;
Hang all your Lady's Favours on your Crest,
And let them fight their Shares ; spur to Destruction,
You cannot miss the Way : Be bravely desperate,
And your young Friends before ye, that lost this Battel,
Your honourable Friends, that knew no Order,
Cry out, Antigonus, the old Antigonus,
The wise and fortunate Antigonus,
The great, the valiant, and the fear'd Antigonus,
Has sent a desperate Son, without Discretion,
To bury in an Hour his Age of Honour.

Dem. I am asham'd.

Leon. 'Tis ten to one, I die with ye :
The Coward will not long be after ye ;
I scorn to say I saw you fall, sigh for ye,
And tell a whining Tale, some ten Years after,
To Boys and Girls in an old Chimney-Corner,

Of

Of what a Prince we had, how bravely spirited ;
How young and fair he fell : We'll all go with ye,
And ye shall see us all, like Sacrifices
In our best Trim, fill up the Mouth of Ruin.
Will this Faith satisfy your Folly ? Can this show ye,
'Tis not to die we fear, but to die poorly,
To fall forgotten, in a Multitude ?
If you will needs tempt Fortune now she has held ye,
Held ye from sinking up——

Dem. Pray, do not kill me,
These Words pierce deeper than the Wounds I suffer,
The smarting Wounds of Loss.

Leon. Ye are too tender ;
Fortune has Hours of Loss, and Hours of Honour,
And the most Valiant feel them both ; Take Comfort,
The next is ours, I have a Soul describes it :
The angry Bull never goes back for Breath,
But when he means to arm his Fury double.
Let this Day set, but not the Memory,
And we shall find a Time. How now, Lieutenant ?

Enter Lieutenant.

Lieut. I know not: I am maul'd: We are bravely beaten,
All our young Gallants lost.

Leon. Thou'rt hurt. Lieu. I am pepper'd,
I was i'th' midst of all: And bang'd on all Hands:
'They made an Anvil of my Head, it rings yet ;
Never so threst'd: Do you call this Fame ? I have sam'd it ;
I have got immortal Fame, but I'll no more on't ;
I'll no such scratching Saint to serve hereafter ;
O' my Conscience, I was kill'd above twenty times,
And yet I know not what a Devil's in't,
I crawl'd away, and liv'd again still ; I am hurt plaguily,
But now I have nothing near so much Pain, Colonel,
'They have sliced me for that Malady.

Dem. All the young Men lost ?

Lieu. I am glad, you are here: But they are all i'th'
Pound, Sir,

They'll never ride o'er other Mens Corn again, I take it ;
Such frisking, and such flaunting with their Feathers,
And such careering with their Mistresses Favours ;
And here must he be pricking out for Honour,
And there got he a Knock, and down goes Pilgarlick,

Commends

Commends his Soul to his She-faint, and exit.
 Another spurs in there, cries, Make Room, Villains,
I am a Lord; scarce spoken, but with Reverence
 A Rascal takes him o'er the Face, and fells him;
 There lies the Lord, the Lord be with him!

Leon. Now, Sir,
 Do you find this Truth?

Dem. I wou'd not. Lieu. Pox upon it!
 They have such tender-Bodies too; such Cullisses,
 That one good handsome Blow breaks 'em in Pieces.

Leon. How stands the Enemy?

Lieu. Ev'n cool enough too:
 For, to say Truth, he has been shrewdly heated.
 The Gentleman, no doubt, will fall to his Julips.

Leon. He marches not i'th' Tail on's.

Lieu. No; Plague take him!
 He'll kiss our Tails as soon; he looks upon us,
 As if he would say, if ye will turn again, Friends,
 We will belabour you a little better,
 And beat a little more Care into your Coxcombs.
 Now shall we have damnable Ballads out against us,
 Most wicked Madrigals: And ten to one, Colonel,
 Sung to such lousy, lamentable Tunes.—

Leon. Thou art merry,
 Howe'er the Game goes: Good Sir, be not troubled,
 A better Day will draw this back again.
 Pray go, and cheer those left, and lead 'em off,
 They are hot, and weary.

Dem. I'll do any thing.

Leon. Lieutenant, send one presently away
 To th' King, and let him know our State: And hark ye,
 Be sure, the Messenger advise his Majesty
 To comfort up the Prince: He's full of Sadness.

Lieu. When shall I get a Surgeon? This hot Weather,
 Unless I be well pepper'd, I shall sink, Colonel.

Leon. Go, I'll prepare thee one.

Lieu. If ye catch me then,
 Fighting again, I'll eat Hay with a Horse. [Exit.]
 SCENE III. Enter Leucippe, reading; and two Maids at a Table writing.

Leon. Have you written to Merione?

1 Maid. Yes, Madam.

Leon.

Leu. And let her understand the Hopes she lies,
If she come speedily——

1 Maid. All these are specified.

Leu. And of the Chain is sent her,
And the rich Stuff to make her the more handsome here?

1 Maid. All this is done, Madam.

Leu. What have you dispatch'd there?

2 Maid. A Letter to the Country Maid, and't please

Leu. A pretty Girl, but peevish, plaguy peevish.
Have ye bought the embroidered Gloves, and that Purse
And the new Curl?

2 Maid. They are ready pack'd up, Madam.

Leu. Her Maiden-head will yield me, let me see now,
She is not fifteen, they say: For her Complexion—
Cloe, Cloe, Cloe, here, I have her, Cloe,
The Daughter of a Country Gentleman;
Her Age upon fifteen; Now her Complexion—
A lovely brown; here 'tis; Eyes black and rolling,
The Body neatly built; she strikes a Lute well,
Sings most intricately; these Helps consider'd,
Her Maiden-head will amount to some three hundred,
Or three hundred and fifty Crowns; 'twill bear it hand-
Her Father poor, some little Share deducted, homely.
To buy him a hunting Nag; Ay, 'twill be pretty.
Who takes Care of the Merchant's Wife?

1 Maid. I have wrought her.

Leu. You know for whom she is?

1 Maid. Very well, Madam;

Though very much Ado I had to make her
Apprehend that Happiness.

Leu. These Kind are subtle;

Did she not cry, and blubber, when you urg'd her?

1 Maid. O most extremely, and swore she wou'd rather perish.

Leu. Good Signs, very good Signs,
Symptoms of easy Nature.

Had she the Plate?

1 Maid. She look'd upon't, and left it,
And turn'd again, and view'd it.

Leu. Very well still.

1 Maid. At length she was content to let it lie there,
Till I call'd for't, or so.

Leu.

Leu. She will come?

1 Maid. Do you take me
For such a Fool, I wou'd part without that Promise?

Leu. The Chamber's next the Park.

1 Maid. The Widow, Madam,
You bad me look upon.

Leu. Hang her, she is musty:

She is no Man's Meat; besides, she's poor and fluttish:
Where lies old Thisbe now? you are so long now——

2 Maid. Thisbe, Thisbe, Thisbe, Agent Thisbe, O, I have
She lies now in Nicopolis. [her,

Leu. Dispatch a Packet,

And tell her, her Superior here commands her
The next Month not to fail, but see deliver'd
Here to our Use, some twenty young and handsome,
As also able Maids, for the Court-Service,
As she will answer it: We are out of Beauty,
Utterly out, and rub the Time away here
With such blown Stuff, I am asham'd to send it.

[Knock within.

Who's that? Look out, to your Business, Maid,
There's nothing got by Idleness: There is a Lady,
Which if I can but buckle with, Altea,
A, A, A, A, Altea, young, and married,
And a great Lover of her Husband; well,
Not to be brought to Court! Say ye so? I am sorry,
The Court shall be brought to you then; how now, who is't?

1 Maid. An ancient Woman, with a Maid attending,
A pretty Girl, but out of Cloaths; for a little Money,
It seems, she would put her to your bringing up, Madam.

Enter Woman and Phebe.

Leu. Let her come in. Wou'd you aught with us, good Woman?

I pray, be short, we are full of Business.

Wom. I have a tender Girl here, an't please your Honour.

Leu. Very well.

Wom. That hath a great Desire to serve your Worship.

Leu. It may be so; I am full of Maids.

Wom. She is young forsooth——

And, for her Truth, and, as they say, her Bearing——

Leu.

Leu. Ye say well, come ye hither, Maid, let me feel your Pulse,
'Tis somewhat weak, but Nature will grow stronger,
Let me see your Leg, she treads but low, in the Pastern.

Wom. A cork heel, Madam.

Leu. We know what will do it,
Without your Aim, good Woman; what do you pitch her at?

She's but a slight Toy—cannot hold out long.

Wom. Even what you think is meet.

Leu. Give her ten Crowns, we are full of Business,
She is a poor Woman, let her take a Cheek home.
Enter the Wench i' th' Office. (Exe. Wom. and Maid.)

2 Maid. What's your Name, Sister?

Phe. Phebe, forsooth.

Leu. A pretty Name; 'twill do well:
Go in, and let the other Maid instruct you, Phebe.
[Exit Phebe.]

Let my old Velvet Skirt be made fit for her,
I'll put her into Action for a Waistcoat;
And when I have rigg'd her up once, this small Pinnace

Shall sail for Gold and good store too; who's there?
Lord, shall we never have any Ease in this World?

Still troubled! Still molested! What would you have?
Enter Menippus.

I cannot furnish you faster than I am able,
An' ye were my Husband a thousand times, I cannot do it.
At least a dozen Posts are gone this Morning
For several Parts of the Kingdom: I can do no more.
But pay 'em, and instruct 'em.

Men. Prithee, good Sweet-heart,
I come not to disturb thee, nor discourage thee;
I know thou labour'st truly: Hark in thine Ear.

Leu. Ha!
What do you make so dainty on? Look there,
I am an Ass, I can do nothing.

Men. Celia?
Ay, this is she; a Stranger born.

Leu. What would you give for more now?

Men. Prithee, my best Leucippe, there's much hangs on Lodg'd at the End of Mrs's Street? That's true to;

At the sack of such a Town, by such a Soldier
Preserv'd a Prisoner; and by Prince Demetrius
Bought from that Man again, maintain'd and favour'd;
How came you by this knowledge?

Leu. Poor weak Man,
I have a thousand Eyes, when thou art sleeping,
Abroad, and full of Business.

Men. You never try'd her?

Leu. No, she is beyond my Level; so hedge'd in
By the Prince's infinite Love and Favour to her.

Men. She is a handsome Wench.

Leu. A delicate, and knows it;
And out of that Proof arms herself.

Men. Come in then.

I have a great Design from the King to you,
And you must work like Wax now.

Leu. On this Lady?

Men. On this, and all your Wits call home.

Leu. I have done

Toys in my Time of some Note; old as I am,
I think, my Brains will work yet without Barn;
Take up the Books.

Men. As we go in, I'll tell ye.

SCENE IV. Enter Antigonus, Timon, Lords and a Soldier.

Ant. No Face of Sorrow for this Loss, 'twill choke him,
Nor no Man miss a Friend; I know his Nature
So deep impress'd with Grief, for what he has suffer'd,
That the least adding to it adds to his Ruin;
His Loss is not so infinite, I hope, Soldier.

Sol. Faith, neither great, nor out of Indiscretion,
The young Men out of Heart.

Enter Demetrius, Leontius, and Lieutenant.

Ant. I guess the manner.

Lord. The Prince, and't like your Grace,

Ant. You are welcome home, Sir.

Come, no more Sorrow, I have heard your Fortune,
And I myself have try'd the like: Clear up, Man,
I will not have ye take it thus: if I doubted, I am,
Your Fear had lost, and that you had turn'd your Back to Bashfully besought their Mercies.

Leu.

Leon. No, no, by this Hand, Sir,
We fought like honest and tall Men.

Ant. I know't, Leontius: Or if I thought
Neglect of Rule, having his Counsel with ye,
Or too vain-glorious Appetite of Fame,
Your Men forgot and scatter'd —

Leon. None of these, Sir,
He shew'd himself a noble Gentleman,
Every way apt to rule.

Ant. These being granted;
Why should you think you have done an Act so heinous,
That nought but Discontent dwells round about ye?
I have lost a Battel.

Leon. Ay, and fought it hard too.

Ant. With as much Means as Man —

Leon. Or Devil could urge it.

Ant. Twenty to one on our Side now.

Leon. Turn Tables,

Beaten like Dogs again, like Owls, you take it
To Heart for flying but a Mile before 'em;
And to say the Truth, 'twas no Flight neither, Sir,
'Twas but a Walk, a handsome Walk; I've tumbled
With this old Body, beaten like a Stock-fish,
And stuck with Arrows, like an arming Quiver,
Blooded and bang'd almost a Day before 'em,
And glad I had got off then. Here's a mad Shaver,
He fights his Share, I am sure, when e'er he comes to't;
Yet I have seen him trip it nightly too,
And cry, The Devil take the hindmost ever!

Lieut. I learnt it of my Betters.

Leon. Boudge at this?

Ant. Has Fortune but one Face?

Lieut. In her best Vizard,

Methinks, she looks but loosely.

Ant. Chance, though she faint now,

And sink below our Expectations.

Dem. 'Tis not, this Day I fled before the Enemy,

And lost my People, left mine Honour murder'd,

My Maiden Honour, never to be ransom'd;

Which to a noble Soul is too too sensible.

Afflicts me with this Sadness; most of these,
Time may turn straight again, Experience perfect,
And new Swords cut new Ways to nobler Fortunes.
O, I have lost—

Ant. As you are mine, forget it;
I do not think it Loss.

Dem. O Sir, forgive me,
I have lost my Friend, those worthy Souls bred with me,
I have lost myself, they were the Pieces of me—
I have lost all Arts, my Schools are taken from me,
Honour and Arms, no Emulation left me;
I liv'd to see these Men lost, look'd upon it;

These Men that twinn'd their Loves to mine, their Virtues;
O Shame of Shames! I saw, and could not save 'em;
This carries Sulphur in't, this burns, and boils me,
And, like a fatal Tomb, betrides my Memory.

Ant. This was hard Fortune, but if alive, and taken,
They shall be ransom'd, let it be at Millions.

Dem. They are dead, they are dead.

Lieut. When would he weep for me thus?
I may be dead and powder'd.

Leon. Good Prince, grieve not;
We are not certain of their Deaths: The Enemy,
Though he be hot, and keen, yet holds good Quarter.
What Noise is this?

Great Shout within. Enter Gentlemen.

Lieut. He does not follow us?

Give me a Steeple-top.

Leon. They live, they live, Sir.

Ant. Hold up your manly Face.

They live, they are here, Son.

Dem. These are the Men.

1 Gent. They are, and live to honour ye.

Dem. How 'scap'd ye, noble Friends? Methought,
I saw ye

Even in the Jaws of Death.

2 Gent. Thanks to our Folly,

That spur'd us on; we were indeed hedg'd round in't;
And ev'n beyond the Hand of Succour, beaten,
Unhors'd, disarm'd: And what we look'd for then, Sir,
Let such poor weary Souls that hear the Bell knoll,
And see the Grave a digging, tell.

Dem.

Dem. For Heav'n's sake
Delude mine Eyes no longer ! How came ye off ?
1 Gent. Against all Expectation ; the brave Seleucus ,
I think, this Day enamour'd on your Virtue,
When, through the Troops, he saw ye shoot like Light-
And at your manly Courage all took Fire ; [sing ;
And after that, the Misery we fell to,
The never-certain Fate of War, confid'ring,
As we stood all before him, Fortune's Ruins,
Nothing but Death expecting ; a short Time
He made a Stand upon our Youths and Fortunes.
Then with an Eye of Mercy inform'd his Judgment,
How yet unripe we were, unblown, unharden'd,
Unfitted for such fatal Ends ; he cry'd out to us,
Go, Gentlemen, commend me to your Master,
To the most high, and hopeful Prince, Demetrius ;
Tell him, the Valour that he show'd against me
This Day, the Virgin Valour, and true Fire,
Deserves ev'n from an Enemy this Courtesy ;
Your Lives, and Arms freely I'll give 'em : Thank him.
And thus we are return'd, Sir.

Leon. Faith, 'twas well done ;
'Twas bravely done ; was't not a noble Part, Sir ?
Lieut. Had I been there, up had I gone, I am sure on't ;
These noble Tricks I never durst trust 'em yet.

Leon. Let me not live, and 'twere not a fam'd Honesty ;
It takes me such a tickling Way : Now wou'd I wish,
Heaven,

But ev'n the Happiness, ev'n that poor Blessing
For all the sharp Afflictions thou hast sent me,
But ev'n i'th' Head o'th' Field, to take Seleucus.
I should do something memorable : Fie, sad still ?

1 Gent. Do you grieve, we are come off ?

Dem. Unransom'd, was it ?

2 Gent. It was, Sir.

Dem. And with such a Fame to me ?
Said you not so ?

Leon. Ye have heard it.

Dem. O Leontius !

Better I had lost 'em all : Myself had perish'd,
And all my Father's Hopes.

Leon. Mercy upon you ;
What ails you, Sir? Death, do not make Fools of us,
Neither go to Church, nor tarry at home?
That's a fine Horn-pipe.

Ant. What's now your Grief, Demetrius?

Dem. Did he not beat us twice?

Leon. He beat, a Pudding, beat us but once.

Dem. He's beat me twice, and beat me to a Coward,
Beat me to nothing.

Lieut. Is not the Devil in him?

Leon. I pray, it be no worse.

Dem. Twice conquer'd me.

Leon. Bear Witnels, all the World, I am a Dunce

Dem. With Valour first he struck me, then with Honour;

That Stroke, Leontius, that Stroke, dost thou not feel it?

Leon. Whereabouts was it? For I remember nothing yet.

Dem. All these Gentlemen that were his Prisoners.

Leon. Yes, he set 'em free, Sir, with Arms and Ho-

Dem. There, there, now thou hast it ;

At mine own Weapon, Courtefly, he's beaten me.

At that I was held a Master in, he has cow'd me ;

Hotter than all the Dint o'th' Fight he has charg'd me :

Am I not now a wretched Fellow? Think on't ;

And when thou hast examin'd all Ways honourable,

And find'st no Door left open to requite this,

Conclude, I am a Wretch, and was twice beaten.

Ant. I have observ'd your Way, and understand it,

And equal love it as Demetrius ;

My noble Child, thou shalt not fall to Virtue,

I and my Pow'r will sink first : You, Leontius,

Wait for a new Commission, ye shall out again,

And instantly : You shall not lodge this Night here,

Nor see a Friend, nor take a Blessing with ye,

Before ye be i'th' Field : The Enemy is up Hill,

And still in full Design : Charge him again, Son,

And either bring home that again thou hast lost there,

Or leave thy Body by him.

Dem. Sir, ye raise me,

And now I dare look up again, Leontius.

Leon.

Leon. Ay, ay, Sir, I am thinking, who we shall take of 'em

To make all straight; and who we shall give to the Devil.

What say'st thou now, Lieutenant?

Lieut. I say nothing.

Lord what ail I, that I have no mind to fight now!

I find my Constitution mightily alter'd

Since I came home: I hate all Noises too,

Especially the Noise of Drums; I am how at well

As any living Man; why not as valiant?

To fight now, is a kind of Vomit to me,

It goes against my Stomach.

Dem. Good Sir, presently;

You cannot do your Son so fair a Favour,

Ant. 'Tis my intent: I'll see ye march away too.

Come, get your Men together presently, Lubbins,

And press where please you, as you march.

Dem. We go, Sir.

Ant. Wait you on me: I'll bring ye to your Command,

And then to Fortune give ye up.

Dem. Ye love me. [Exit.]

Leon. Go, get the Drums, beat roundly, Lieutenant.

Lieut. Hark ye, Sir,

Have a foolish Business they call Marriage,

Leon. After the Wars are done.

Lieut. The Party says, Sir,

I have giv'n the Priest his Money too: All my Friends,

My Father, and my Mother, [Sir,

Leon. Will you go forward?

Lieut. She brings a pretty Matter with her.

Leon. Half a dozen Bastards.

Lieut. Some forty, Sir.

Leon. A goodly Competency. [Matter]

Lieut. I mean, Sir, Pounds a Year; I'll dispatch the

'Tis but a Night or two; I'll overtake ye, Sir. [quarter]

Leon. The two old Legions, yes: Where lies the Horse?

Lieut. And if it be a Boy, I'll ev'n make bold, Sir,—

Leon. Away with your Whore,

A plague o' your Whore, you damn'd Rogue,

Now you are cur'd and well, must ye be clucking?

Lieut. I have broke my Mind to my Ancient, in my Absence;

Met a sufficient Gentleman.

Leon. Get forward.

Lieut. Only receive her Portion.

Leon. Get ye forward.

Else I'll bang ye forward.

Lieut. Strange, Sir,

A Gentleman and an Officer cannot have the Liberty.

To do the Office of a Man.

Leon. Shame light on thee!

How came this Whore into thy Head?

Lieut. This Whore, Sir,

'Tis strange, a poor Whore.

Leon. Do not answer me,

Troop, troop away; do not name this Whore again,

Or think there is a Whore.

Lieut. That's very hard, Sir,

Leon. For if thou dost, look to't, I'll have thee gelded,

I'll walk ye out before me: Not a Word more. [Exeunt.]

SCENE V.

Enter Leucippe, and Governess.

Leu. Ye are the Mistress of the House, ye say,
Where this young Lady lies.

Gov. For Want of a better.

Leu. You may be good enough for such a Purpose,
When was the Prince with her? Answer me directly.

Gov. Not since he went a Warring.

Leu. Very well then:
What carnal Copulation are you privy to

Between these two? Be not afraid, we are Women;
And may talk thus amongst ourselves, no Harm in't.

Gov. No sure, there's no Harm in't, I conceive that;
But truly, that I ever knew the Gentlewoman
Oshewwife giv'n, than a hopeful Gentlewoman—

Leu. You'll grant me, the Prince loves her?

Gov. There I am with ye.
And, the Gods bless her, promises her mightily.

Leu. Stay there a while: And gives her Gifts?

Gov. Extreemly;
And truly makes a very Saint of her.

Leu. I should think now,
(Good Woman let me have your Judgment with me,

I see, 'tis none of the worst: Come sit down by me)

That these two cannot love so tenderly.—

Gov. Being so young as they are too.

Leu. You say well—

But that, methinks, some further Promises—

Gov. Yes, yes,

I have heard the Prince swear he wou'd marry her.

Leu. Very well still: They do not use to fall out?

Gov. The tenderest Chickens to one another,
They cannot live an Hour asunder.

Leu. I have done then;

And be you gone; you know your Charge, and do it

You know, whose Will it is; if you transgress it—

That is if any have Access, or see her,

Before the King's Will be fulfill'd—

Gov. Not the Prince, Madam?

Leu. You'll be hang'd if you do it, that I'll assure ye.

Gov. But ne'ertheless, I'll make bold to obey ye.

Leu. Away, and to your Business then.

Gov. 'Tis done, Madam.

[Exeunt.]

ACT III. SCENE I.

Enter Antigonus, and Menippus.

Ant. THou hast taken wond'rous Pains; but yet,
Menippus.

You understand not of what Blood and Country.

Men. I labour'd that, but cannot come to know it.

A Greek. I am sure, she is; she speaks this Language.

Ant. Is she so excellent handsome?

Men. Most enticing.

Ant. Sold for a Prisoner?

Men. Yes, Sir, some poor Creature;

Ant. And he loves tenderly?

Men. They say, extreamly.

Ant. 'Tis well prevented then; Yes, I perceiv'd it;
When he took Leave now, he made a hundred Stops,
Desir'd an Hour, but half an Hour, a Minute,
Which I with Anger cross'd; I knew his Business,

I knew, 'twas she he hunted on; this Journey, Man,
I beat out suddenly for her Cause intended,
And wou'd not give him Time to breathe. When comes

Men. This Morning, Sir.

Ant. Lodge her to all Delight then.

For I would have her try'd to th' Test: I know,
She must be some crack'd Coin, not fit his Traffick;
Which, when we have found, the Shame will make him leave her,

Or we shall work a nearer Way: I'll bury him,
And with him all the Hopes I have cast upon him,
E'er he shall dig his own Grave in that Woman:
You know which Way to bring her: I'll stand close there,
To view her as she passes: And do you hear, Menippus,
Observe her with all Sweetness; humour her,
'Twill make her lie more careless to our Purposes.
Away, and take what Helps you please.

Men. I am gone, Sir.

[Exeunt.]

S C E N E II. Enter Celia and Governess.

Cel. Governess, from whom was this Gown sent me,
Be serious true: I will not wear it else: [prithce?]
'Tis a handsome one.

Gov. As though you know not?

Cel. No, Faith:

But I believe, for certain too, yet I wonder,
Because it was his Caution, this poor Way,
Still to preserve me from the curious Searchings
Of greedy Eyes.

Gov. You have it: Does it please you?

Cel. 'Tis very rich, methinks too; prithce, tell me?

Gov. From one that likes you well, never look coy,
These are no Gifts, to be put off with Powtings. [Lady;

Cel. Powtings, and Gifts? Is it from any Stranger?

Gov. You are so curious, that there is no Talk to ye.
What if it be I, pray ye?

Cel. Unpin, good Governess,
Quick, quick.

Gov. Why, what's the matter?

Cel. Quick, good Governess:
Fie on't, how basely it becomes me? Poorly?
A Trick put in upon me? Well said, Governess:

I vow,

I vow, I wou'd not wear it—out ! It smells musty.
Are these your Tricks ? Now I begin to smell it,
Abominable musty ; will you help me ?
The Prince will come again—

Gov. You are not mad, sure ?

Cel. As I live, Ill cut it off : A Pox upon it !
For, sure, it was made for that Use ; do you bring me
Liveries ?

Stales to catch Kites ? Dost thou laugh too, thou base

Gov. I cannot choose, if I should be hang'd.

Cel. Abuse me,
And then laugh at me too ?

Gov. I do not abuse ye :
Is it Abuse, to give him Drink that's thirsty ?

You want Cloaths ; is it such a heinous Sin, I beseech
To see you stor'd ?

Cel. There is no greater Wickedness than this Way

Gov. What Way ?

Cel. I shall curse thee fearfully,
If thou provok'st me further : And take heed, Woman,
My Curses never miss.

Gov. Curse him, that sent it.

Cel. Tell but his Name—

Gov. You dare not curse him.

Cel. Dare not ? By this fair Light—

Gov. You are so full of Passion—

Cel. Dare not be good ? Be honest ? Dare not curse

Gov. I think, you dare not : I believe so.

Cel. Speak him.

Gov. Up with your Valour then, up with it bravely,
And take your full Charge.

Cel. If I do not, hang me ; tell but his Name.

Gov. 'Twas Prince Demetrius sent it :

Now, now, give him, kill him I th Eye now, Lady.

Cel. Is he come home ?

Gov. It seems so ; but your Curse now—

Cel. You do not lye, I hope.

Gov. You dare not curse him.

Cel. Prithce, do not abuse me : Is he come home,
For I wou'd now with all my Heart believe thee.

Gov. Nay, you may choose : Alas, I deal for Strangers,
That send ye scurvy, musty Gowns, stale Liveries.

I have

I have my Tricks.

Cel. 'Tis a good Gown, a handsome one;

I did but jest; where is he?

Gov. He that sent it.—

Cel. How? He that sent it? Is it come to that again?
Thou can'st not be so foolish: Prithee, speak out,
I may mistake thee.

Gov. I said, he that sent it—

Cel. Curse o' my Life: Why dost thou vex me thus?
I know, thou meanest Demetrius, dost thou not?
I charge thee speak Truth: If it be any other,
Thou knowest the Charge he gave thee, and the Justice
His Anger will inflict, if e'er he know this;
As know he shall, he shall, thou spiteful Woman,
Thou beastly Woman; and thou shalt know too late too,
And feel too sensible, I am no Ward,
No Sale-stuff for your Money-Merchants that sent it:
Who dare send me, or how durst thou, thou—

Gov. What you please:
For this is ever the Reward of Service.
The Prince shall bring the next himself.

Cel. 'Tis strange,
That you should deal so peevishly: Beshrew ye,
You have put me in a heat.

Gov. I am sure, ye have killed me:
I ne'er receiv'd such Language: I can but wait upon ye,
And be your Drudge; keep a poor Life to serve ye.

Cel. You know my Nature is too easy, Governess,
And you now know, I am sorry too: How does he.

Gov. O Gad, my Head!

Cel. Prithee, be well, and tell me;
Did he speak of me, since he came? Nay, see now,
If thou wilt leave this Tyranny? Good sweet Governess,
Did he but name his Celia? Look upon me,
Upon my Faith, I meant no Harm: Here take this,
And buy thyself some Trifles: Did he, good Wench?

Gov. He loves ye but too dearly.

Cel. That's my good Governess.

Gov. There's more Cloaths making for ye.

Cel. More Cloaths?

Gov. More:

Richer and braver; I can tell ye that News;

And

And twenty glorious Things.

Cel. To what Use, Sirrah? [Wretches

Gov. Ye are too good for our House now: We poor
Shall lose the Comfort of ye.

Cel. No, I hope not.

Gov. For ever lose ye, Lady.

Cel. Lose me? Wherefore? I hear of no such Thing.

Gov. 'Tis sure, it must be so:

You must shine now at Court: Such Preparation,
Such Hurry, and such hanging Rooms—

Cel. To th' Court, Wench? Was it to th' Court, thou

Gov. You'll find it so.

Cel. Stay, stay, this cannot be.

Gov. I say, it must be:

I hope to find ye still the same good Lady. [Wench,

Cel. To th' Court? This stumbles me: Art sure, for me,
This Preparation is?

Gov. She is perilous crafty;

I fear, too honest for us all too. Am I sure, I live?

Cel. To th' Court? This cannot down: What should
I do there?

Why should he on a sudden change his Mind thus,

And not make me acquainted? Sure, he loves me?

His Vow was made against it, and mine with him:

At least, while this King liv'd. He will come hither,

And see me, ere I go?

Gov. Wou'd, some wise Woman

Had her in Working. That I think he will not,

Because he means with all Joy there to meet ye.

Ye shall hear more within this Hour.

Cel. A Courtier?

What may that Meaning be? Sure, he will see me

If he be come, he must: Harkye, good Governess,

What Age is the King of?

Gov. He's an old Man, and full of Business.

Cel. I fear, too full, indeed: What Ladies are there?

I wou'd be loth to want good Company.

Gov. Delicate young Ladies, as you wou'd desire;

And when you are acquainted, the best Company.

Cel. 'Tis very well: Prithce, go in, let's talk more.

For though I fear a Trick, I'll bravely try it.

Gov.

Gos. I see he must be cunning, knocks the Doe down.

[Exeunt.]

SCENE III. Enter Lieutenant, and Leonthus :

Drums within.

Leon. You shall not have your Will, Sirrah, are ye running?

Have ye gotten a Toy in your Heels? Is this a Season, When Honour pricks ye on, to prick your Ears up, After your Whore, your Hobby-horse?

Lieu. Why, look ye now:

[fight]

What a strange Man are you? Would you have a Man At all Hours all alike?

Leon. Do but fight something;

But half a Blow, and put thy Stomach to't:

Turn but thy Face, and do make Mouths at 'em.

Lieu. And have my Teeth knock'd out; I thank ye Ye are my dear Friend.

[heartsily,]

Leon. What a Devil ails thee?

Dost long to be hang'd?

Lieu. Faith, Sir, I make no Suit for't:

But rather than I would live thus out of Charley, Continually in brawling

Leon. Art thou not he?

I may be cozen'd

Lieu. I shall be discover'd.

Leon. That in the midst of thy most hellish Pains, When thou wert crawling-sick, didst aim at Wonders, When thou wert mad with Pain?

Lieu. Ye have found the Cause out;

I had ne'er been mad to fight else: I confess, Sir, The daily Torture of my Side, that vex'd me, Made me as dally carelels what became of me, Till a kind Sword there wounded me, and eas'd me;

'Twas nothing in my Valour sought, I am well now, And take some Pleasure in my Life: methinks, now, It shews as mad a Thing to me to see you scuffle, And kill one another foolishly for Honour, As 'twas to you, to see me play the Coxcomb.

Leon. And wilt thou ne'er fight more?

Lieu. P' th' Mind I am in

Leon. Nor never be sick again?

Lieu. I hope, I shall not.

Leon.

Leon. Prithce, be sick again ; prithce I beseech thee,
Be just so sick again.

Lieu. I'll just be hang'd first.

Leon. If all the Arts that are can make a Cholick,
(Therefore look to't :) Or if Impossthumes, mark me,
As big as Foot-balls ———

Lieu. Deliver me.

Leon. Or Stones of ten Pound weight I' th' Kidneys,
Through Ease and ugly Diets may be gather'd ;
I'll feed ye up myself, Sir, I'll prepare ye ;
You cannot fight, unless the Devil tear ye,
You shall not want Provocations, I'll scratch ye,
I'll have thee have the Tooth-ach, and the Head-ach.

Lieu. Good Colonel, I'll do any thing.

Leon. No, no, nothing ——— [Bellows,
Then will I have thee blown with a pair of Smith's
Because ye shall be sure to have a round Gale with ye,
Fill'd full with Oil o' Devil, and Aqua-fortis,
And let these work, these may provoke.

Lieu. Good Colonel ———

Leon. A Coward in full Blood ; prithce, be plain with
Will Roasting do thee any Good ? [me,

Lieu. Nor basting neither, Sir.

Leon. Marry, that goes hard.

Enter one Gentleman.

1 Gent. Where are you, Colonel ?
The Prince expects ye, Sir : h'as hedg'd the Enemy
Within a Straight, where all the Hopes and Valours
Of all Men living cannot force a Passage,
He has 'em now.

Leon. I knew all this before, Sir, [there ?
I chalk'd him out his Way : But do you see that Thing

Lieu. Nay, good sweet Colonel, I'll fight a little.

Leon. That Thing ?

1 Gent. What Thing ? I see the brave Lieutenant.

Leon. Rogue, what a Name hast thou lost ?

Lieu. You may help it,
Yet you may help't : I'll do ye any Courtesy :
I know, you love a Wench well.

Enter second Gentleman.

Leon. Look upon him ;
Do you look too.

2 Gen.

2 Gen. What shou'd I look on?
I come to tell ye, the Prince stays your Direction,
We have 'em now i' th' Coop, Sir.

Leon. Let 'em rest there,
And chew upon their Miseries: But look first —

Lieu. I cannot fight for all this.

Leon. Look on this Fellow.

2 Gen. I know him: 'tis the valiant brave Lieutenant.

Leon. Canst thou hear this, and play the Rogue?
Quickly, behind me quickly, neatly do it; [Steal off
And rush into the thickest of the Enemy,
And if thou kill'st but two, —

Lieu. You may excuse me,
'Tis not my Fault: I dare not fight.

Leon. Be rul'd yet,
I'll beat thee on; go wink and fight: A Plague upon your Sheep's Heart!

2 Gen. What's all this Matter?

1 Gen. Nay, I cannot shew ye.

Leon. Here's twenty Pound, go but smell to 'em.

Lieu. Alas, Sir.

I have taken such a Cold, I can smell nothing.

Leon. I can smell a Rascal, a rank Rascal:

Fie, how he stinks, like a tired Jade.

2 Gent. What, Sir?

Leon. Why, that Sir, do not you smell him

2 Gent. Smell him?

Lieu. I must endure.

Leon. Stinks like a dead Dog, Carrion —

There's no such damnable Smell under Heav'n,
As the faint Sweat of a Coward. Will ye fight yet?

Lieu. Nay, now I defy ye; ye have spoke the worst ye
Of me, and if every Man should take what ye say [can
To the Heart —

Leon. God ha' Mercy,
God ha' Mercy, with all my Heart: here I forgive thee;
And fight, or fight not, but go along with us,
And keep my Dog.

Lieu. I love a good Dog naturally.

1 Gent. What's all this Stir, Lieutenant?

Lieu. Nothing, Sir,
But a slight Matter of Argument.

Leon.

Leon. Pox take thee!
 Sure, I shall love this Rogue, he's so pretty a Coward.
 Come, Gentlemen, let's up now, and if Fortune
 Dare play the Slut again, I'll never more faint her.
 Come, Play-fellow, come, prithee, come up: come,
 I have a Way shall fit yet: A tame Knave, Chicken,
 Come, look upon us.

Lieu. I'll tell ye who does best, Boys. [Exeunt.]
SCENE IV. Enter Antigonus, and Menippus, above.

Men. I saw her coming out.
Ant. Who waits upon her?
Men. Timon, Charinthus, and some other Gentlemen,
 By me appointed.

Ant. Where's your Wife?
Men. She's ready
 To entertain her here, Sir; and some Ladies
 Fit for her Lodgings.

Ant. How shews she, in her Trim now?
Men. O, most divinely sweet.
Ant. Prithee, speak softly.

How does she take her Coming?
Men. She bears it bravely;
 But what she thinks — For Heav'n sake, Sir, preserve
 If the Prince chance to find this. [me —]

Ant. Peace, ye old Fool;
 She thinks to meet him here.

Men. That's all the Project.
Ant. Was she hard to bring?
Men. No, she believ'd it quickly,

And quickly made herself fit. The Gown a little,
 And those new Things she has not been acquainted with,
 At least in this Place, where she liv'd a Prisoner,
 Troubled and stirr'd her Mind. But, believe me, Sir,
 She has worn as good, they fit so apted to her;
 And she is so great a Mistress of Disposure.
 Here they come now: But take a full View of her.

Enter Celia, Timon, Charinthus, and Gentlemen.
Ant. How cheerfully she looks? How she salutes all?
 And how she views the Place? She is very young, sure:
 That was an admirable Smile, a catching one,
 The very Twang of Cupid's Bow sung in it:
 She has two-edg'd Eyes, they kill o' both Sides.

Men.

Men. She makes a Stand, as though she would speak.
Tim. Be still then.

Col. Good Gentlemen, trouble yourselves no further, I had thought, fare, to have met a noble Friend here.

Tim. You may meet many, Lady.

Col. Such as you are

I covet few or none, Sir.

Char. Will you walk this way,

And take the Sweets o' th' Garden? Cool and close, Lady.

Col. Methinks, this open Air's far better; tend ye that Pray, where's the Woman came along?

Char. What Woman?

Col. The Woman of the House I lay at.

Tim. Woman?

Here was none came along, sure.

Col. Sure, I am catch'd then:

Pray, where's the Prince?

Char. He will not be long from ye,

We are his humble Servants.

Col. I cou'd laugh now,

To see how finely I am cozen'd: Yet I fear not,

For, sure, I know a Way to scape all Dangers.

Tim. Madam, your Lodgings lie this way.

Col. My Lodgings?

For Heav'n sake, Sir, what Office do I bear here?

Tim. The great Commander of all Hearts.

Enter Leucippe, and Ladies.

Col. You have hit it.

I thank your sweet Heart for it. Who are these now?

Char. Ladies, that come to serve ye.

Col. Well consider'd;

Are you my Servants?

Lady. Servants to your Pleasures.

Col. I dare believe ye, but I dare not trust ye:

Catch'd with a Trick? Well, I must bear it patiently:

Methinks, this Court's a neat Place: All the People

Of to remind a Size —

Tim. This is no poor Rogue.

Leu. Were it a Paradise to please your Fancy,

And entertain the Sweetness you bring with ye —

Col. Take Breath;

You are fat, and many Words may melt ye;

This

This is three Bawds beaten into one; bless me, Heav'n,
What shall become of me? I am the Phisick.
O my Conscience, this is the old Viper, and all these little Creep every Night into her Belly; do your hear, plump
Servant,

And you, my little sucking Ladies, you must teach me,
For, I know, you are excellent at Carriage,
How to behave myself, for I am rude yet:
But you say, the Prince will come?

Lady. Will fly to see you.

Cel. For look you, if a great Man, say the King now,
Shou'd come and visit me?

Men. She names ye.

Ant. Peace, Fool.

Cel. And offer me a Kindness, such a Kindness

Leu. Ay, such a Kindness.

Cel. True, Lady, such a Kindness,
What shall that Kindness be now?

Leu. A witty Lady;

Learn, little Ones, learn.

Cel. Say, it be all his Favour, —

Leu. And a sweet Saying 'tis.

Cel. And I grow peevish?

Leu. You must not be neglectful.

Cel. There's the Matter,

There's the main Doctrine now, and I may miss it:
Or a kind handsome Gentleman?

Leu. You say well.

Cel. They'll count us basely bred.

Leu. Not freely nurtur'd.

Cel. I'll take thy Counsel.

Leu. 'Tis an excellent Woman.

Cel. I find a notable Volume here, a learn'd one;
Which Way? For I wou'd fain be in my Chamber;
In truth, sweet Ladies, I grow weary; fy,
How hot the Air beats on me?

Lady. This Way, Madam.

Cel. Now, by mine Honour, I grow wondrous faint

Leu. Your Fans, sweet Gentlewomen, your Fans.

Cel. Since I am fool'd,

I'll make myself some Sport, though I pay dear for't.

[Exit.

Men.

Men. You see now what a Manner of Woman she is.

Ant. Thou art an Als.

[Sir.

Men. Is this a fit Love for the Prince?

Ant. A Coxcomb!

Now, by my Crown, a dainty Wench, a sharp Wench,
And of a matchless Spirit! How she jeer'd 'em?

How carelessly she scoff'd 'em? Use her nobly!

I wou'd, I had not seen her: Wait anon,

And then you shall have more to trade upon. [Exeunt.

SCENE V. Enter Leontius, and the two Gentlemen,

Leon. We must keep a Round, and a strong Watch to Night,

The Prince will not charge the Enemy 'till the Morning:
But for the Trick, I told ye for this Rascal,

This Rogue, that Health and strong Heart makes a

1 Gent. Ay, if it take.

[Coward—

Leon. Ne'er fear it, the Prince has it,

And if he let it fall, I must not know it;

He will suspect me presently: But you two

May help the Plough.

2 Gent. That he is sick again.

Leon. Extremely sick; his Disease grown incurable;
Never yet found, nor touch'd at.

Enter Lieutenant.

2 Gent. Well, we have it,

And here he comes.

Leon. The Prince has been upon him,

What a flatten Face he has now? It takes, believe it;

How like an Als he looks?

Lieu. I feel no great Pain,

At least, I think, I do not; yet I feel sensibly,

I grow extremely faint: How cold I sweat now?

Leon. So, so, so.

Lieu. And now 'tis ev'n too true, I feel a Pricking,

A Pricking, a strange Pricking: How it tingles?

And, as it were, a Stitch too: The Prince told me,

And every one cry'd out, I was a dead Man;

I had thought, I had been as well —

Leon. Upon him now, Boys,

And do it most demurely.

1 Gent. How now, Lieutenant?

Lieu.

2 Gent. Bewailing, Sir, a Soldier, I think I shall
And one, I think, your Grace will grieve to part with;
But every living Thing—

Dem. 'Tis true, must perish;
Our Lives are but our Marches to our Graves;
How dost thou now, Lieutenant?

Lieu. Faith, 'tis true, Sir;
We are but Spans, and Candles' Ends.

Leon. He's finely mortified.

Dem. Thou art Heart-whole yet; I see; beakers strange
And that apace too; I saw it this Morning in him;
When he, poor Man, I dare swear—

Lieu. No, believe't, Sir,
I never felt it.

Dem. Here lies the Pain now: How he is swell'd?

1 Phy. The Imposthume
Fed with a new malignant Humour now,
Will grow to such a Bigness, 'tis incredible;
The Compass of a Bushel will not hold it.

Dem. Can you endure me touch it?

Lieu. Oh, I beseech you, Sir,

I feel you sensibly, e'er you come near me.

Dem. He's finely wrought, he must be cut, no Cure
And suddenly, you see how fast he blows out.

Lieu. Good Master-Doctors, let me be beholding to
you,

I feel, I cannot last.

2 Phy. For what, Lieutenant?

Lieu. But ev'n for half a Dozen Cans of good Wine,
That I may drink my Will out of this hideously.

Dem. Fetch him some Wine, and since he must go
Gentlemen,

Why, let him take his Journey merrily.

Enter Servant with Wine.
Lieu. That's ev'n the nearest Way.

Leon. I cou'd laugh dead now.

Dem. Here, off with that.

Lieu. These two I give your Grace, or let me have
A poor Remembrance of a dying Man, Sir;
And, I beseech you, wear 'em out.

Dem. I will, Soldier.

These are fine Legacies.

Lieu. Among the Gentlemen,
EVEN all I have left; I am a poor Man, naked,

Yet something for Remembrance; four a-piece, Gentle-
And so my Body where you please,

Leon. It will work.

Lieu. I make your Grace my Executor, and I be-
See my poor Will fulfill'd: Sure, I shall walk else. [Ye,

Dem. As full as they can be fill'd, here's my Hand,

1 Gent. The Wine will tickle him. [Soldier.

Lieu. I would hear a Drum beat,
But to see how I cou'd endure it.

Dem. Beat a Drum there. [Drum within.

Lieu. Oh heavenly Music, I wou'd hear one sing to it,
I am very full of Pain.

Dem. Sing? 'tis impossible.

Lieu. Why, then I would drink a Drum-full:
Where lies the Enemy?

2 Gent. Why here, close by.

Leon. Now he begins to muster.

Lieu. And dare he fight?

Dare he fight, Gentlemen?

1 Phy. You must not cut him;

He's gone then in a Moment; all the Hope left, is,

To work his Weakness into sudden Anger,

And make him raise his Passion above his Pain,

And so dispose him on the Enemy;

His Body then, being stir'd with Violence,

Will purge itself, and break the Sore.

Dem. 'Tis true, Sir.

1 Phy. And then my Life for him.

Leon. I will not die thus.

Dem. But he is too weak to do.

Lieu. Die like a Dog?

2 Phy. Ay, he's weak, but yet he's Heart-whole.

Lieu. Hem!

Dem. An excellent Sign.

Lieu. Hem!

Dem. Stronger still, and better.

Lieu. Hem, hem! Ran, tan, ran, tan, tan.

1 Phy. Now he's i'th' Way on't. [Exit.

Dem. Well, go thy Ways; thou wilt do something,

Leon.

Leon. And some brave Thing, or let mine Ears be cut
He's finely wrought. [off.]

Dem. Let's after him.

Leon. I pray, Sir,
But how this Rogue, when this Cloud's melted in him,
And all discover'd —

Dem. That's for an After-Mirth; away, away, away.

[Exeunt.]

SCENE VI. Enter Seleucus, Lyfimachus, Ptolemy, and Soldiers.

Sol. Let no Man fear to die: We love to sleep, all,
And Death is but the sounder Sleep; All Ages,
And all Hours call us: 'tis so common, easy,
That little Children tread those Paths before us;
We are not sick, nor our Souls prest with Sorrows,
Nor go we out with tedious Tales, forgotten;
High, high we come, and hearty to our Funerals,
And, as the Sun that sets, in Blood let's fall.

Lyfim. 'Tis true, they have us fast, we cannot 'scape 'em,
Nor keeps the Brow of Fortune one smile for us;
Dishonourable Ends we can 'scape though,
And, worse than those Captivities, we can die,
And dying nobly, though we leave behind us
These Clods of Flesh, that are too massy Burthens,
Our living Souls fly crown'd with living Conquests.

Ptol. They have begun, fight bravely, and fall bravely;
And may that Man that seeks to save his Life now
By Price, or Promise, or by Fear falls from us,
Never again be blest wi' th' Name of Soldier!

Enter a Soldier.

Sol. How now? Who charg'd first? I seek a brave
To set me off in Death. [Hand]

Sol. We are not charg'd, Sir,
The Prince lies still.

Sol. How comes this Larum up then? [him,

Sol. There is one desperate Fellow, with the Devil in
He never durst do this else, has broke into us,
And here he bangs ye two or three before him,
There five or six; ventures upon whole Companies.

Ptol. And is not seconded?

Sol. Not a Man follows.

Sol. Not cut t' Pieces?

Sol.

Sol. Their wonder yet has staid 'em.

Ser. Let's in, and see this Miracle.

Prot. I admire it.

[Exeunt;

Enter Leontius, and Gentlemen.

Leon. Fetch him off, fetch him off; I am sure he's cloated;

Did I not tell you how 'twould take?

1 Gent. 'Tis admirable.

Enter Lieutenant, with Colours in his Hand, pursuing three or four Soldiers.

Lieu. Follow that Blow, my Friend, there's at your Coxcombs;

I fight to save me from the Surgeon's Miseries.

Leon. How the Knave curries 'em?

Lieu. You cannot, Rogues,

Till you have my Diseases, fly my Fury;

Ye Bread-and-Butter Rogues, do you run from me?

And my Side would give me Leave, I would so hunt ye,

Ye Porridge gutted Slaves, ye Veal-broth Boobies.

Enter Demetrius, Physicians, and Gentlemen.

Leon. Enough, enough, Lieutenant, thou hast done

Dem. Mirrour of Man!

[bravely.

Lieu. There's a Flag for ye, Sir;

I took it out of th' Shop, and never paid for't;

I'll to 'em again, I am not come to th' Text yet.

Dem. No more, my Soldier: Beshrew my Heart he is hurt sore.

Leon. Hang him, he'll lick all those whole.

1 Phy. Now will we take him,

And cure him in a trice.

Dem. Be careful of him.

Lieu. Let me live but two Years,
And do what you will with me;

I never had but two Hours yet of happiness;

Pray ye, give me nothing to provoke my Valour,

For I am ev'n as weary of this Fighting—

[Tent-

2 Phy. Ye shall have nothing; come to the Prince's
And there the Surgeons presently shall search ye,
Then to your Rest.

Lieu. A little handsome Litter

To lay me in, and I shall sleep.

Leon. Look to him.

C

Dem.

Sol.

Dem. I do believe, a Horse begot this Fellow;
He never knew his Strength yet; they are our own.

Leon. I think so, I am cozen'd else; I would but see now
A Way to fetch these off, and save their Honours.

Dem. Only their Lives.

Leon. Pray ye, take no Way of Peace now,
Unless it be with infinite Advantage.

Dem. I shall be rul'd;

Let the Battles now move forward,

Our self will give the Signal:

Enter Trumpet and Herald.

Now, Herald, what's your Message?

Her. From my masters,

This honourable Courtely, a Parley

For half an Hour, no more, Sir.

Dem. Let 'em come on,

They have my Princely Word.

Enter Seleucus, Lyfimachus, Ptolemy, Attendants,

and Soldiers.

Her. They are here to attend ye.

Dem. Now, Princes, your Demands?

Sel. Peace, if it may be Without the too much Tainture of our Honour:

Peace, and we'll buy it too.

Dem. At what Price?

Lyfim. Tribute.

Ptol. At all the Charge of this War.

Leon. That will not do.

Sel. Leontius, you and I have serv'd together,

And run through many a Fortune with our swords,

Brothers in Wounds and Health; one meat has fed us;

One Tent a thousand Times from cold night cover'd us;

Our Loves have been but one; and had we died then,

One Monument had held our Names and Actions:

Why do you set upon your Friends such Prices?

And sacrifice to giddy Chance such Trophies?

Have we forgot to die? or are our Virtues

Less in Afflictions constant, than our Fortunes?

Ye are deceiv'd, old Soldier.

Leon. I know your Worths,

And thus low I bow in Reverence to your Virtues:

Were these my Wars, or led my Pow'r in chief here,

I know

I knew then how to meet your Memories;
They are my King's Employments; this Man fights now,
To whom I owe all Duty, Faith, and Service;
This Man, that fled before ye, call back that,
That bloody Day again; call that Disgrace home,
And then an easy Peace may sheath our Swords up.

I am not greedy of your Lives and Fortunes,
Nor do I gape ungratefully to swallow ye.
Honour, the Spur of all illustrious Natures,
That made you famous Soldiers, and next Kings,
And not ambitious Envy, strikes me forward.

Will ye unarm, and yield yourselves his Prisoners?

Sel. We never knew what that Sound meant: No,
Shall ever bind this Body, but Embraces;
Nor weight of Sorrow here, till Earth fall on me.

Leon. Expect your Charge then.

Lyfim. 'Tis the nobler Courtesy:
And so we leave the Hand of Heaven to bless us.

Dem. Stay, have you any Hope?

Sel. We have none left us,
But that one Comfort of our Deaths together;
Give us but Room to fight.

Leon. Win it and wear it.

Ptol. Call from the Hills those Companies hang o'er us,
Like bursting Clouds; and then break in, and take us.

Dem. Find such a Soldier will forsake Advantage,
And we'll draw off. To shew I dare be noble,
And hang a Light out to you in this Darkness,
The Light of Peace; give up those Cities, Forts,
And all those Frontier Countries to our Uses.

Sel. Is this the Peace? Traitors to those that feed us,
Our Gods and People? Give our Countries from us?

Lyfim. Begin the Knell, it sounds a great deal sweeter.

Ptol. Let loose your Servant, Death.

Sel. Fall Fate upon us,
Our Memories shall never stink behind us.

Dem. Seleucus, great Seleucus.

Sel. The Prince calls, Sir.

Dem. Thou Stock of Nobleness, and Courtesy,
Thou Father of the War—

Leon. What means the Prince now?

Dem. Give me my Standard here.

Lyfm. His Anger's melted.

Dem. You Gentlemen, that were his Prisoners,
And felt the Bounty of that noble Nature,
Lay all your Hands, and bear these Colours to him,
The Standard of the Kingdom; take it. Soldier.

Ptol. What will this mean?

Dem. Thou hast won it; bear it off;
And draw thy Men home whilst we wait upon thee.

Sel. You shall have all our Countries.

Lyfm. Ptol. All, by Heav'n, Sir,

Dem. I will not have a Stone, a Bush, a Bramble,
No, in the Way of Courtesy, I'll start ye;
Draw off, and make a Lane through all the Army.

That these, that have subdu'd us, may march through us.

Sel. Sir, do not make me surfeit with such Goodness,
I'll bear your Standard for ye; follow ye.

Dem. I swear, it shall be so, march through me fairly,
And thine be this Day's Honour, great Seleucus.

Ptol. Mirror of Minds!

Dem. Nay, then ye hate me. [Exit with Drums, and

Leon. I cannot speak now: [Shouts

Well, go thy way; at a sure piece o' Bravery

Thou art the best; these Men are won by the necks now:

I'll send a Post away. [Exit.

A. C. T. IV. S. C. E. N. E. I.

Enter Antigonus, and Menippus.

Ant. NO Appear in her?

Men. Not an immodest Motion,

And yet when she is courted,

Makes as wild witty Answers.

Ant. This more fires me,

I must not have her thus.

Men. We cannot alter her.

Ant. Have ye put the Youths upon her?

Men. All that know any thing,

And have been studied how to catch a Beauty,

But like so many Whelps about an Elephant—

The Prince is coming home, Sir.

Ant. I hear that too,

But that's no matter; am I alter'd well? Man:

Man. Not to be known, I think, Sir.

Ans. I must see her.

Enter two Gentlemen, or Lords.

1 Gen. I offer'd all I had, all I could think of, I try'd her through all Points of th' Compass, I think.

2 Gen. She studies to undo the Court, to plant here The Enemy to our Age, cold Chastity; She is the first, that e'er baulk'd a close Arbour, And the sweet Contents within: She hates curl'd Heads And setting up of Beards, she swears to Idolatry;

1 Gen. I never knew so fair a Face so frowe: Yet she would make one think—

2 Gen. True, by her Carriage, For she's as wanton as a Kid to th' outside, As full of Mocks and Taunts: I kiss'd her Hand too, Walk'd with her half an Hour.

1 Gen. She heard me sing, and sung herself too; she sings admirably; But still when any Hope was, as 'tis her Trick To minister enough of those, then presently With some new Flum or other, rubbing to th' matter, And such a Crown, as would sink all before her: She takes her Chamber; come, we shall not be last Fools.

2 Gen. Not by a Hundred, I hope; 'tis a strange

Ans. This screws me up still higher [Wench.

Enter Celia, and Ladies behind her.

Men. Here she comes, Sir.

Ans. Then, be you gone; and take the Women with And lay those jewels in her Way.

Cel. If I stay longer, I shall number as many Lovers, as Lais did; How they flock after me! Upon my conscience, I have had a dozen Horses given me this Morning; I'll ev'n set up a Troop, and turn She-Soldier.

A good disreputable Wench now, that were not Hide-bound, Might raise a fine Estate here, and suddenly—

For these warm Things will give their Spales—I can go

Without a World of Offerings to my Excellence: I am a Queen, a Goddess, I know not what—

No Constellation in all Heav'n, but I out-shine it: And they have found out now, I have no Eyes.

C. 5. Of

Of mortal Lights ; but certain Influences,
Strange virtuous Lightnings, human Nature starts at ;
And I can kill my twenty in a Morning,
With as much Ease now——

Ha ! What are these ? New Projects ?
Where are my honourable Ladies ? Are you out too ?
Nay, then, I must buy the Stock ; send me good
Carding !

I hope the Prince's Hands be not in this Sport ;
I have not seen him yet, cannot hear from him,
That troubles me : All these were Recreations,
Had I but his sweet Company to laugh with me :
What Fellow's that ? Another Apparition ?
This is the loving'st Age : I should know that Face,
Sure, I have seen't before, not long since neither. [rings !

Ant. She sees me now : O Heav'n, a most rare Crea-

Cel. Yes, 'tis the same : I will take no Notice of ye,
But if I do not fit ye, let me fry for't :
Is all this Cackling for your Egg ? They are fair ones,
Excellent rich, no Doubt, too ; and may humble
A good staid Mind, but I can go thus by 'em,
My honest Friends, do you set off these Jewels ?

Ant. Set 'em off, Lady ?
Cel. I mean, sell 'em there, Sir ? [sure.

Ant. She's very quick ; for Sale, they are not meant,

Cel. For Sanctity, I think, much less : Good Ev'n, Sir.

Ant. Nay, noble Lady, stay,
'Tis you must wear 'em :
Never look strange, they are worthy your best Beauty.

Cel. Did you speak to me ?

Ant. To you, or to none living,
To you they are sent, to you they're sacrific'd.

Cel. I'll never look a Horse's Mouth, that's giv'n :
I thank ye, Sir : I'll send one to reward ye.

Ant. Do you never ask who sent 'em ?

Cel. Never :
Nor ever care, if it be an honest End,
That End's the full Reward ; and Thanks, but 'twill be ill,
If it be ill, I will not urge the Acquaintance.

Ant. This has a Soul, indeed : Pray let me coll ye.

Cel. I care not if ye do, so you do it handsomely,
And not stand picking of your Words.

Ant. The King sent 'em. Cel.

But that's no matter ; am I not well ?

Cel. Away! away! thou art some foolish Fellow;
And now, I think thou hast stole 'em too; the King sent 'em?
Alas, good Man, wou'dst thou make me believe
He has nothing to do with Things of these Worths,
But wantonly to fling 'em? He's an old Man,
A good old Man, they say too: I dare swear,
Full many Year ago he left these Gambols;
Here, take your Trinkets.

Ant. Sure, I do not lye, Lady.

Cel. I know, thou lye'st extremely, damnably:
Thou hast a lying Face.

Ant. I never was thus rattled.

Cel. But, say, I should believe: Why are they sent me?
And why art thou the Messenger? Who art thou?

Ant. Lady, look on 'em wisely, and then consider
Who can send such as these, but a King only?
And, to what Beauty can they be Oblations,
But only yours? For me that am the Carrier,
'Tis only fit you know, I am his Servant,
And have fulfill'd his Will.

Cel. You are short and pithy;
What must my Beauty do for these?

Ant. Sweet Lady,
You cannot be so hard of Understanding;
When a King's Favour shines upon ye gloriously,
And speaks his Love in these—

Cel. O then, Love's the Matter;
Sir-reverence Love? Now I begin to feel ye;
And I shou'd be the King's Whore, a brave title;
And go as glorious as the Sun, O brave still;
The chief Commandress of his Concubines,
Hurried from Place to Place to meet his Pleasures.

Ant. A devilish subtil Wench, but a rare Spirit.

Cel. And when the good old Spunge had suck'd my Youth dry,
And left some of his Royal Aches in my Bones;
When Time shall tell me, I have plough'd my Life up,
And cast long Furrows in my Face to sink me;

Ant. You must not think so, Lady.

Cel. Then can these, Sir,
These precious Things, the Price of Youth and Beauty,
This Shop here of Sin-offering, set me off again?

Can it restore me chaste, young, innocent?
 Purge me to what I was? Add to my Memory
 An honest and a noble Fame? The King's Vice!
 The Sin's as universal as the Sun is,
 And lights an everlasting Torch to shame me. (Favour,

Ant. Do you hold so slight Account of a great King's
 That all Knees bow to purchase things as you will!

Cel. Prithee, Peace:
 If thou knew'st how ill-favour'dly thy Tale becomes thee,
 And what ill Root it takes——

Ant. You will be wiser, (into,

Cel. Cou'd the King find no Shape to shift his Pander
 But reverend Age? And one so like himself too?

Ant. She has found me out, (she will not be so bold,

Cel. Cozen the World with Gravity?
 Prithee, resolve me one thing, do's the King love thee?

Ant. I think, he does.

Cel. It seems so by thy Office:
 He loves thy Use, and when that's ended, hates thee.
 Thou seemest to me a Soldier, (and I'll not be so bold,

Ant. Yes, I am one.

Cel. And hast fought for thy Country? (in flouts us! W

Ant. Many a time.

Cel. May be, commanded too? (and I'll not be so bold,

Ant. I have done, Lady.

Cel. O wretched Man, below the State of Pity!
 Canst thou forget, thou wert begot in Honour? (and

A free Companion for a King? A Soldier, (but ever tis Whose Nobleness dare feel no Want, but Enemies! (and

Canst thou forget this, and decline so wretchedly,
 To eat the Bread of Bawdry, of base Bawdry (and

Feed on the Scum of Sin? Fling thy Sword from thee;
 Dishonour to the noble Name that wars'd thee; (and Go, beg Diseases: Let them be thy Armour; (and Thy Fights, the Flames of Lust, and their foul Issues.

Ant. Why then I am a King, and mine own Spickster:

Cel. And I as free as you, mine own Disposer: (and W
 There, take your Jewels; let them give them Lustres
 That have dark Lives and Souls; wear 'em yourself; Sir,

You'll seem a Devil else.

Ant. I command ye, stay.

Cel. Be just, I am commanded.

Ant. I will not wrong ye. Cel.

Col. Then thus low falls my Duty.

Ant. Can ye love me?

Say, ay, and all I have—

Col. I cannot love ye;

Without the Breach of Faith, I cannot hear ye;

Ye hang upon my Love, like Frogs on Lilies:

I can die, but I cannot love: You are answer'd. [Exit.]

Ant. I must find apter Means, I love her truly. [Exit.]

SCENE II. Enter Demetrius, Leontius, Lieutenant,

Gentlemen, Soldiers, and Host.

Dem. Hither, do you say, she is come?

Host. Yes, Sir, I am sure on't.

For while I waited upon ye, putting my Wife in Trust,

I know not by what Means, but the King found her;

And hither she was brought; how, or to what End—

Dem. My Father found her?

Host. So my Wife informs me.

Dem. Leontius, pray draw off the Soldiers,

I would a while be private.

Leon. Fall off, Gentlemen, the Prince would be alone.

Dem. Is he so cunning?

There is some Trick in this, and you must know it;

And be an Agent too: Which, if it prove so—

Host. Pull me to Pieces, Sir,

Dem. My Father found her?

My Father brought her hither? Went she willingly?

Host. My Wife says, full of Doubts.

Dem. I cannot blame her,

No more: There is no Trust, no Faith in Mankind.

Enter Antigonus, Menippus, Leontius, and Soldiers.

Ant. Keep her up close, he must not come to see her;

You are welcome nobly now, welcome home, Gentle-

men;

You have done a courteous Service on the Enemy,

Has tied his Raish for ever, you shall find it;

Ye are not now in's debt, Son. Still your sad Looks?

Leontius. What's the matter?

Leon. Truth, Sir, I know not.

We have been merry since we went.

Lieut. I feel it.

Ant. Come, what's the matter now? Do you want

[Money?]

Sure

Sure he has heard o' the Wench.

Dem. Is that a Want, Sir? I would fain speak to your

Ant. You may do freely.

Dem. And not deserve your Anger?

Ant. That ye may too.

Dem. There was a Gentlewoman, and sometime my

Which I thought well of, Sir? Your Grace conceiv'd me—

Ant. I do indeed, and with much Grief conceive ye

With full as much Grief as your Mother bare you.

There was such a Woman: 'Woud I might as well say,

There was no such, Demetrius.

Dem. She was virtuous,

And therefore not unfit my Youth to love her.

She was as fair—

Ant. Her Beauty I'll proclaim too.

To be as rich as ever reign'd in Woman;

But how she made that good, the Devil knows.

Dem. She was—O Heav'n!

Ant. The Hell to all thy glories,

Swallow'd thy youth, made Shipwrack of thine Honour:

She was a Devil.

Dem. Ye are my Father, Sir.

Ant. And since ye take a Pledge to show your Follies

I'll muster 'em, and all the World shall view 'em.

Leon. What Heat is this? The King's Eyes speak his Anger.

Ant. Thou hast abus'd thy Youth, drawn to thy Fel-

Instead of Arts and Arms, a Woman's Kisses,

The Subtilties, and soft Heats of a Harlot.

Dem. Good Sir, mistake her not.

Ant. A Witch, a Sorceress;

I tell thee but the Truth; (and hear, Demetrius.)

Which has so dealt upon thy Blood with Charms,

Dev'lish and dark; so lockt up all thy Virtues,

So pluckt thee back from what thou sprung'st from,

Glorious.

Dem. O Heav'n, that any Tongue but his durst say

That any Heart durst harbour it! Dread Father,

If for the Innocent the Gods allow us

To bend our Knees—

Ant. Away, thou art bewitched still;

Though

Though she be dead, her Pow'r still lives upon thee.

Dem. Dead? O sacred Sir, Dead, did you say?

Ant. She is dead, Fool.

Dem. It is not possible: Be not so angry; Say, she is slain under your sad Displeasure;

Or any thing but dead; say, she is banish'd; Invent a Crime, and I'll believe it, Sir.

Ant. Dead by the Law. We found her Hell, and her; I mean her Charms and Spells, for which she perish'd; And she confess, she drew thee to thy Ruin; And purpos'd it, purpos'd my Empire's Overthrow.

Dem. But is she dead? Was there no Pity, Sir? If her Youth err'd, was there no Mercy shown her? Did ye look on her Face, when ye condemn'd her?

Ant. I look'd into her Heart, and there she was hideous.

Dem. Can she be dead? Can Virtue fall untimely?

Ant. She's dead, deservingly she died.

Dem. I've done then.

O matchless Sweetness, whither art thou vanish'd?

O thou fair Soul of all thy Sex, what paradise

Hast thou enrich'd and blest? I am your Son, Sir,

And I'll all you shall command stand most Obedient.

Only a little time I must intrude you

To study to forget her; 'twill not be long, Sir,

Nor long after it. Art thou dead, Celia, [Violence!

Dead, my poor Wench? My Joy, pluckt green with

O fair sweet Flower, farewell: Come, thou Destroyer

Sorrow, thou Melter of the Soul, dwell with me;

Dwell with me, solitary Thoughts, Tears, Coyings,

Nothing, that loves the Day, love me, or seek me;

Nothing, that loves his own Life, haunt about me;

And Love, I charge thee, never charm mine Eyes more,

Nor e'er betray a Beauty to my Curses;

For I shall curse all now, hate all, forswear all,

And all the Brood of fruitful Nature vex at;

For she is gone that was all, and I nothing.

Ant. This Opinion must be maintain'd.

Men. It shall be, Sir.

Ant. Let him go; I can at mine own Pleasure

Draw him to th' right again. Wait your Instructions,

YedT

And

And see the Soldier paid, Leon. Washed and shaven
Once more ye're welcome home all.

All. Health to your Majesty. [Exit Antig. &c.]

Leon. Thou went'st along the Journey; how can'st thou rest?

Hof. I did, but, I am sure, 'tis so: Had I staid behind,
(I think, this had not prov'd.

Leon. A Wench the Reason?

Lieu. Who's that talks of a Wench there?

Leon. What, all this Discontent about a Wench?

Lieu. Where is this Wench, good Colonel? [Council?]

Leon. Pristhee, hold thy Peace: Who calls thee to Lieu. Why, if there be a Wench—

Leon. 'Tis fit thou know her:—

That I'll say for thee, and as fit thou'rt for her,

Let her be mew'd or stopt. How is it, Gentlemen?

Enter two Gentlemen.

1 Gent. He's wondrous discontent, he'll speak to no Man.

2 Gent. Has taken his Chamber close, admits no
Tears in his Eyes, and Crying out.

Hof. 'Tis so, Sir;—
And now I with myself half hang'd ere I went this Jour-

Leon. What is this Woman?

Lieu. Ay.

Hof. I cannot tell ye, but handsome as Heav'n

Lieu. She's not so high, I hope, Sir.

Leon. Where is she?

Lieu. Ay, that would be known.

Leon. Why, Sirrah—

Hof. I cannot show ye neither;

The King has now dispos'd of her.

Leon. There lies the matter:

Will he admit none to come comfort him?

1 Gent. Not any near, nor, let e'm knock their Hearts

Will ever speak.

Lieu. 'Tis the best way if he have her gone [Passing;]

For look you, a Man would be loth to be disturb'd in's

'Tis every good Man's Case.

Leon. 'Tis all thy Living.

We must not suffer this; we dare not suffer less.

For when these tender Souls meet deep Afflictions,

They

They are not strong enough to struggle with 'em,
But drop away as Snow does, from a Mountain;
And in the Torrent of their own Sights sink themselves:
I will and must speak to him.

Lieu. So must I too:
He promised me a Charge.

Leon. Of what? of Children,
Upon my Conscience, thou'ast a double Company;
And all of thine own begetting already.

Lieu. That's all one,
I'll raise 'em to a Regiment; and then command 'em:
When they turn disobedient, unbeget 'em:
Knock 'em o'th' Head, and put in new.

Leon. A rare Way;
But for all this, thou art not valiant enough
To dare to see the Prince now?

Lieu. Do you think he's angry?

1 Gen. Extreemly vext.

2 Gen. To the endang'ring any Man comes near him.

1 Gen. Yet if thou couldst but win him out,
What e'er

Thy Suit may be, believe it granted presently.

Leon. Yet thou must think though
That in the doing he may break upon ye,
And——

Lieu. If he do not kill me.

Leon. There's the Question.

Lieu. For half a dozen Hurts.

Leon. Art thou so valiant?

Lieu. Not absolutely so neither: No it cannot be,
I want m' Impostumes, and my things about me,
Yet I'll make Danger, Colonel.

Leon. 'Twill be rare sport,
Howe'er it take; give me thy Hand; if thou dost this,
I'll raise thee up a Horse-Troop, take my Word for't.

Lieu. What may be done by human Man.

Leon. Let's go then,

1 Gen. Away, before he cool: He will relapse else.

[Exeunt.
SCENE III. Enter Antigonus, Menippus, and Leucippe.

Ant. Will she not yield?

Lieu.

Lieu. For all we can argue to her, she will not budge. I swore, you'd marry her; she laugh'd extremely, and then she rail'd like Thunder.

Ans. Call in the Magician, I must, and will obtain her, I am Asses self.

Enter Magician with a Bowl.
Are all the Philters in? Charms, Powder, Roots?

Mag. They are all in; and how I only stay, U
The Invocation of some helping Spirits.

Ant. T' your Work then, and dispatch.

Mag. Sit still, and fear not.

Leu. I shall ne'er endure these Sights.

Ant. Away with the Woman, Go and wait without.

Leu. When the Devil's gone, pray call me.

Ant. Be sure you make it powerful enough.

Mag. Pray, doubt not.

S O N A G I M I N A

Rise from the Shades below,

All you that prove

The Helps of looser Love;

Rise, and bestir

Upon this Cup, whate'er may compel,

By powerful Charms, and unresist'd Spell,

A Heart unwarm'd to melt in Love's desires;

Distill into this Liquor all your Fiery

Heats, Longings, Tears;

But keep back frozen Fears,

That she may know, that all's not said,

And to a Power that will not be denied.

The A N S W E R.

I Obey, I Obey,

And am come to view the Day;

Brought along, all may compel,

All the Dar'ring, and the Hell;

Here's a little, little Flower,

This will make her love as an Hour,

Then unto such Flames arise,

And joyful Joy will not suffice.

Here's the Powder of the Moon,

With which she caught Endymion;

SCENE III.

The powerful Tears that Venus cry'd,
When the Boy Adonis dy'd.

Here's Medea's Charm, with which

Jason's Heart she did bewitch;

Omphale this Spell put in

When she made the Libyan King.

This dull Rook pluckt from Lethe's Flood

Purges all pure Thoughts, and good

These I stir thus, round, round, round,

Whilst our light Feet beat the Ground.

Mag. Now, Sir, 'tis full, and whoe'er drinks this Shall violently doat upon your Person;
And never sleep nor eat unsatisfied
For many hours 'twill work, and work with Violence;
And those who's done it, you have my Assurance

Enter Leucippe

Ant. See him rewarded liberally
Here take this Bowl, and when the calls for Wine next,
Be sure you give her this, and see her drink it;
Delay no time; when the calls next.

Leu. I shall, Sir.

Ant. Let none else touch it, on your Life.

Leu. I'm charg'd, Sir.

Ant. Now if she have an antidote, let her scape

me. [Exit.]

Enter Leontius, Lieutenant, and Gentlemen.

1 Gent. There is the Door, Lieutenant, if you dare do any thing.

Leon. Here's no man waits.

1 Gent. H'as giv'n a charge that none shall

Nor none shall come within the hearing of him.

Dare ye go forward?

Lieu. Let me put on my Skull first.

My Head's almost beaten into the pan of an Apple.

Are there no Guns, or Dogs?

Leon. The Rogue will do it.

And yet I know he has no Stomach to it.

Lieu. What Loop-holes are there when I knock for

For those may pepper me; I can perceive none.

Leon.

Leon. How he views the Fortification.

Lieu. Farewell, Gentlemen,
If I be kill'd—

Leon. We'll see thee buried bravely. Mosely.

Lieu. Away, how should I know that then? I'll knock Pray Heav'n he speak in a low Voice now to comfort
me :

I feel I have no Heart to— isn't well, Gentlemen?

Colonel, my Troop—

Leon. A little louder.

Lieu. Stay, stay;

Here is a Window, I will see, stand wide,
By—he's charging of a Gun.

Leon. There's no such matter.

There's no Body in this Room.

Lieu. O 'twas a Fire-shovel.

Now I'll knock louder, if he say who's there?

As sure he has so much manners, then I will answer him

So finely and demurely. My Troop, Colonel—

[Knocks louder.

1 Gent. Knock louder, Fool, he hears not.

Lieu. You Fool, do you.

Do an you dare now.

1 Gent. I do not undertake it.

Lieu. Then hold your Peace, and meddle with your

Leon. Now he will knock. [Knocks louder.

Lieu. Sir, Sir, will't please you hear, Sir?

Your Grace, I'll knock again, what's that?

Leon. He's there now.

Lord! How he stares! I ne'er yet saw him thus alter'd;

Stand now, and take the troop.

Lieu. Would I were in't,

And a good Horse under me! I must knock again,

The Devil's at my Fingers ends: He comes now.

Now, Colonel, if I live—

Leon. The Troop's thine own, Boy.

Enter Demetrius with a Pistol.

Dem. What desperate Fool, ambitious of his Ruin?

Lieu. Your Father would desire ye, Sir, to come to

Dem. Then sit no more. [Dinner.

Lieu. Now, now, now, now.

Dem.

Dem. Poor Coxcomb: Why do I aim at thee? [Exit.]

Leon. His Fear has kill'd him.

Enter Leucippe with a Bowl.

2 Gent. I protest he's almost stiff: Bend him and rub
Hold his Nose close, you, if you be a Woman, [him,
Help us a little: Here's a Man near perish'd.

Lieu. Alas, alas, I have nothing here about me.
Look to my Bowl; I'll run in presently

And fetch some Water: Bend him, and set him upwards.
A goodly Man—[Exit.]

Leon. Here's a brave Heart: He's warm again: You
Leave us i'th' lurch so, Sirrah,

2 Gent. Now he breathes too.

Lieu. If we'd but drink to raise his Spirits.
What's i'th Bowl? upon my life, good liquor,
She would not own it else.

1 Gent. He sees.

Leon. Look up, Boy,
And take this Cup, and drink it off; I'll pledge thee:
Guide it to his Mouth, he swallows heartily.

2 Gent. Oh! Fear and Sorrow's dry; his off—

Leon. Stand up, Man.

Lieu. Am I not shot?

Leon. Away with him, and cheer him:
Thou'lt won't thy Troop.

Lieu. I think I won it bravely.

Leon. Go, I must see the Prince; he must not live thus;
And let me hear an hour hence from ye.

Well, Sir— [Exeunt Gent. and Lieu.]

Enter Leucippe with Water.

Lieu. Here, here: Where's the sick Gentleman?

Leon. He's up, and gone, Lady.

Lieu. 'Tis that I came so late.

Leon. He must still thank ye;
Ye left that in a Cup here did him Comfort.

Lieu. That is the Bowl?

Leon. Yes truly; very much Comfort;
He drank it off, and after it spoke lustily.

Lieu. He drank it all?

Leon. All off.

Lieu. The Devil choke him;

I am undone: H'as twenty Devils in him;
Undone for ever, lest he none?

Leon. I think not.

Leu. No, not a drop: What shall become of me now?
Had he now here else to swoon? a vengeance swoon him:
Undone, undone, undone: Stay, I can lye yet,
And swear too at a pinch, that's all my Comfort.
Look to him; I say look to him, and but mark what follows.

Enter Demetrius. [Prince again,
Leon. What a Devil ails the Woman? here comes the
With such a sadness on his face, as Sorrow,
Sorrow herself but poorly imitates,
Sorrow of Sorrows on that Heart that caus'd it.

Dem. Why might she not be false and treach'rous to me?
And found so by my father? She was a Woman,
And many a one of that Sex, young and fair,
As full of Faith as she, have fall'n, and foully.

Leon. It is a Wench! O that I knew the circumstance.

Dem. Why might not, to preserve me from this ruin,
She having lost her Honour, and abus'd me,
My father change the Forms o' th' Crimes, and execute
His Anger on a fault she ne'er committed,
Only to keep me safe? Why shou'd I think so?
She never was to me, but all Obedience,
Sweetness, and Love.

Leon. How heartily he weeps now? I think I need
I have not wept this thirty Years, and upward;
But now, if I should be hang'd, I cannot hold from't:
It grieves me to the Heart.

Dem. Who's that, that mocks me?

Leon. A plague of him that mocks ye:—I grieve truly,
Truly, and heartily to see you thus, Sir:
And if it lay i' my Pow'r, Gods are my Witnesses,
Whoe'er he be that took your sweet Peace from you;
I am not so old yet, nor want I Spirit—

Dem. No more of that, no more, Leontius,
Revenge are the Gods: Our part is suff'rance:
Farewel, I shall not see thee long. Leon. Good Sir,
Tell me the Cause, I know there is a Woman in't;
D'you hold me faithful? Dare you trust your Soldier?
Sweet Prince, the Cause?

Dem. I must not, dare not tell it,
And as thou art an honest Man enquire not.

Leon. Will ye be merry then?

Dem. I'm wondrous merry. [comes ye.

Leon. 'Tis wondrous well; You think now this be-
Shame on't, it does not, Sir, it shews not hapdsomely;
If I were thus; you'd swear I were an Ass straight; T
A wooden Ass; whine for a Wench!

Dem. Prithee leave me.

Leon. I will not leave ye for a Tit.

Dem. Leontius?

Leon. For that you may have any where for six pence,
And a dear pennyworth too.

Dem. Nay, then you're troublesome. Leon. Not half
So troublesome as you are to yourself, Sir
Was that brave Heart made to pass for a Placket;
And now i'th' Dog-days too, when nothing dare love!
That noble Mind to melt away and moulder
For a hey nonny, nonny! Wou'd I had a Glass here,
To shew ye what a pretty Toy ye're turn'd to.

Dem. My wretched Fortune.

Leon. Will ye but let me know her?
I'll once turn Bawd; Go to, they're good mens officers,
Not so contemptible as we take 'em for;
And if she be above Ground, and a Woman;
I ask no inore; I'll bring her o'my Back, Sir,
By this Hand I will, and I had as lief bring the Devil,
I care not who she be, nor where I have her,
And in your Arms, or the next Bed deliver her,
Which you think fittest, and when you have danc'd your Galliard.

Dem. Away, and fool to them are so affected.
O thou art gone, and all my Comfort with thee!
Wilt thou do one thing for me?

Leon. All things i'th' World, Sir,
And of all Dangers.

Dem. Swear. Leon. I will.

Dem. Come near me.
No more then,

Leon. How!

Dem. Come no more near me:
Thou art a Plague-fore to me.

Leon. [Exit.

Leon. Give you good Ev'n, Sir;
If you be suffer'd thus, we shall have fine sport.
I will be sorry yet.

Enter two Gentlemen.

1 Gent. How now, how does he?
Leon. Nay, if I tell ye, hang me, or any Man else
That hath his nineteen wits; he 'as the Bots, I think,
He groans, and roars, and kicks.

2 Gent. Will he speak yet?

Leon. Not willingly:
Shortly he will not see a Man; if ever
I look'd upon a Prince so metamorphos'd,
So juggl'd int' I know not what; I shame take me;
This 'tis to be in love.

1 Gent. Is that the Cause on't?

Leon. What is it not the Cause of but Bear-baitings?
And yet it stinks much like it. Out upon't;
What Giants, and what Dwarfs, what Owls and Apes,
What Dogs, and Cats it makes us? Men that are possessed with it,

Live as if they had a Legion of Devils in 'em,
And every Devil of a several Nature;
Nothing but Hey-pais, re-pais: Where's the Lieutenant?
Has he gather'd up the end on's Wits again?

1 Gent. He is alive: But you that talk of Wonders,
Shew me but such a Wonder as he is now.

Leon. Why? He was ever at the worst a Wonder.

2 Gent. He's now most wonderful; a Blazer now, Sir.

Leon. What ails the Fool? And what Star reigns now,
We have such Prodiges?

2 Gent. 'Twill pose your Heav'n-hunters;
He talks now of the King, in other Language,
And with the King, as he imagines, hourly. [King,
He courts the King, drinks to th' King, dies for the Buys all the Pictures of the King, wears the King's Co-

Leon. Does he not lie i'th' King's Arms too? [Flour.

Leon. He's going thither.
Makes Prayers for the King, and sundry Languages,
Turns all his Proclamations into Metre;
Is really in love with th' King, most dotingly,
And swears Adonis was a Devil to him:
A sweet King, a most comely King, and such a King.

2 Gent.

2 Gent. Then down on's Marrow-bones; O excellent King—

Thus he begins, Thou Light, and Life of Creatures,
Angel-ey'd King, vouchsafe at length thy favour;
And so proceeds to Incision: What think ye of this Sorrow?

1 Gent. Will as familiarly kiss the King's Horses
As they pass by him; Ready to ravish his Footmen.

Leon. Why, this is above Ella?
But how comes this?

1 Gent. Nay, that's to understand yet,
But thus it is, and this part but the poorest,
'Twould make a Man leap over the Moon to see him
Act these.

2 Gent. With Sighs as though his Heart would break;
Cry like an unbreech'd Boy, not eat a bit.

Leon. I must go see him presently,
For this is such a Gig, for certain, Gentlemen,
The Fiend rides on a Fiddle-stick.

2 Gent. I think so.

Leon. Can you guide me to him? For half an Hour
To see the Miracle.

1 Gent. We sure shall start him.

SCENE V. Enter Antigonus and Leucippe.

Ant. Are you sure she drank it?

Leu. Now must I lye most confidently.
Yes Sir, she 'as drunk it off.

Ant. How works it with her?

Leu. I see no alteration yet. Ant. There will be,
For he's the greatest Artist living made it.
Where is she now?

Leu. She is ready to walk out, Sir.

Ant. Stark mad, I know she will be.

Leu. So I hope, Sir.

Ant. She knows not of the Prince?

Leu. Of no Man living—

Ant. How do I look? How do my Cloaths become
I am not very grey.

Leu. A very Youth, Sir,

Upon my Maiden-head as smug as April:

Heav'n blefs that sweet Face 'twill undo a thousand
Many a soft Heart must sob yet ere that wither.

Your

Your Grace can give Content enough.

Enter Celia with a Book.

Ant. I think so.

Leu. Here she comes, Sir.

Ant. How shall I keep her off me?

Go, and perfume the Room: Make all things ready.

[Ex. Leu.]

Cel. No hope yet of the Prince! no Comfort of him! They keep me mew'd here, as the mew'd mad Folks, No Company but my Afflictions, This royal Devil again! strange how he haunts me! How like a poyson'd Potion his Eyes fright me! H'as made him handsome too.

Ant. Do you look now, Lady? You'll leap anon.

Cel. Curl'd and perfum'd? I smell him; He looks on's Legs too, sure he'll cut a Caper; God-a-mercy, dear December.

Ant. O do you smile now; I knew it would work with you; come hither pretty one.

Cel. Sir.

[kiss me.]

Ant. I like those Court-lies well; come hither and
Cel. I'm reading, Sir, of a short Treatise here, That's call'd the Vanity of Lust: Has your grace seen He says here, that an old Man's loose desire [it?] Is like the Glow-worms, light, the Apes so wonder'd at; Which when they gather'd Sticks, and laid upon't, And blew, and blew, turn'd tail, and went out pre- And in another place he calls their Loves, [scently.] Faint smells of dying Flow'rs, carry no comforts; They're doting, stinking Fogs, so thick and muddy, Reason with all his Beams cannot beat through 'em.

Ant. How's this? Is this the Potion? You but fool still? I know you love me.

Cel. As you're just and honest; I know I love, and honour you, admire you.

Ant. This makes against me, fearfully against me.

Cel. But as you bring your Pow'r to persecute me, Your Traps to catch mine Innocence, to rob me, As you lay out your Lusts to overwhelm me, Hell never hated Good, as I hate you, Sir; And I dare tell it to your Face. What Glory, Now after all your Conquests got, your Titles, The

The ever-living Memories rais'd to you,
Can my Defeat be? My poor wrack, what Triumph?
And when you crown your swelling Cups to Portune,
What honourable Tongue can sing my Story?
Be as your Emblem is, a glorious Lamp
Set on the top of all, to light all perfectly:
Be as your Office is, a god-like Justice,
Into all shedding equally your Virtues.

Ant. She 'as drencht me now; now I admire her Goodness;

So young, so nobly strong, I never tasted.

Can nothing in the pow'r of Kings persuade ye?

Cel. No, nor that Pow'r command me.

Ant. Say I should force ye?

I have it in my will.

Cel. Your Will's a poor one;

And though it be a King's Will, a despis'd one.

Weaker than Infant's Legs, your Will's in swaddling
Clouts,

A thousand ways my Will has found to check ye;

A thousand Doors to scape ye. I dare die, Sir;

As suddenly dare die, as you can offer.

Nay, say you had your Will, say you had ravish'd me,

Perform'd your Lust, what had you purchas'd by it?

What Honour won; D'you know who dwells above, Sir,

And what they have prepar'd for Men turn'd Devils?

Did you ne'er hear their Thunder? Start and tremble,

Death sitting on your Blood, when their Fires visit us.

Will nothing wring you then do you think? Sir hard
here,

And like a Snake curl round about your Conscience,

Biting and stinging: Will you not roar too late then?

Then when you shake in horror of this Villainy,

Then will I rise a Star in Heav'n, and scorn ye.

Ant. Lust, how I hate thee now! And love this Sweetness!

Will yo' be my Queen? Can that price purchase ye?

Cel. Not all the World, I am a Que'n already,

Crown'd by his Love, I must not lose for Fortune;

I can give none away, sell none away, Sir,

Can lend no Love, am not mine own Exchequer

For in another's Heart my Hope and Peace lies.

Ant.

Ant. Your fair Hands, Lady? For yet I am not pure enough

To touch those Lips. In that sweet Peace ye spoke of Live now for ever, and I to serve your Virtues——

Cel. Why now you show a God! now I kneel to ye:
This Sacrifice of Virgins Joy send to ye:
Thus I hold up my Hands to Heav'n that touch'd ye,
And pray eternal Blessings dwell about ye. [triumphing]

Ant. Virtue commands the Stars: Rise more than Vir-
Your present Comfort shall be now my business.

Cel. All my obedient Service wait upon ye.

[Ex. severally.]

SCENE VI. Enter Leontius, Gentleman, and Lieutenant.

Leon. Hast thou clean forgot the Wars?

Lieu. Prithee hold thy Peace.

1 Gent. His Mind's much elevated now.

Leon. It seems so.

Sirrah.

Lieu. I am so troubled with this Fellow.

Leon. He will call me Rogue anon.

1 Gent. 'Tis ten to one else.

Lieu. King that thou knew'st I lov'd thee, how I lov'd
And where, O King, I barrel up thy beauty.

Leon. He cannot leave his Sutler's Trade, he woos in't.

Lieu. O never, King

Leon. By this Hand when I consider——

Lieu. My honest Friend, you are a little sawey.

1 Gent. I told you you would have it.

Lieu. When mine own Worth——

Leon. Is flung into the Ballance, and found nothing.

Lieu. And yet a Soldier

Leon. And yet a sawey one.

Lieu. One that has follow'd thee.

Leon. Fair and far off.

Lieu. Fought for thy Grace.

Leon. 'Twas for some Grief, you lye, Sir.

Lieu. He's the Son of a Whore denies this: Will that

Leon. Yes, very well,

Lieu. Shall then that thing that honours thee?

How miserable a thing soever, yet a thing still;

And though a thing of nothing, thy thing ever.

Leon.

Leon. Here's a new thing.

2 Gent. He's in a deep dump now. [Birth-day?

Leon. I'll fetch him out on't. When's the King's Leon. When'er it be, that Day I'll die with Ringing.

And there's the Resolution of a Lover. [Exit.

Leon. A goodly Resolution. Sure, I take it,
He is bewitch'd, or mop'd, or his Brain's melted;
Could he find no Body to fall in love with, but the King,
The good old King, to doat upon him too?
Stay, now I remember, what the fat Woman warn'd me,
Bad me remember, and look to him too?
I'll hang if she have not a hand in this; He's conjur'd,
Go after him, pity the poor Rascal;
In the mean time I'll wait occasion
To work upon the Prince.

2 Gent. Pray do that seriously. [Exeunt severally.

SCENE VII. Enter Antigonus, Menippus, and Lords.

Lord. He's very ill.

Ant. I'm very sorry for't.

And much alham'd I've wrong'd her Innocence.

Menippus, guide her to the Prince's Lodgings,

There leave her to his Love again.

Men. I'm glad, Sir.

Lord. He'll speak to none.

Ant. Oh I shall break that silence;

Be quick, take fair attendance.

Men. Yes, Sir, presently.

[too; Exit.

Ant. He'll find his Tongue, I warrant ye his Health
I send a Physick will not fail.

Lord. Fair work it.

Ant. We hear the Princes mean to visit us
In way of Truce.

Lord. 'Tis thought so.

Ant. Come; let's in then,

And think upon the noblest ways to meet 'em. [Exeunt.

SCENE VIII. Enter Leontius.

Leon. There's no way now to get in: All the Light
Nor can I hear a sound of him, pray Heav'n [stopt too.
He use no violence: I think he has more Soul,
Stronger, and I hope nobler: Wou'd I could but see
This Beauty he groans under, or come to know [once
D But

But any circumstance. What noise is that there?

I think I heard him groan: Here are some coming;

A Woman too, I'll stand aloof, and view 'em.

Enter Menippus, Celia, and Lords.

Col. Well, some of ye have been to blame in this point,

But I forgive ye: The King might have pickt out too
Some fitter Woman to have try'd his Valour.

Men. 'Twas all the best meant, Lady.

Col. I must think so,

For how to mend it now—He's here, you tell me?

Men. He's, Madam, and the joy to see you only
Will draw him out.

Leon. I know that Woman's Tongue,
I think I've seen her Face too: I'll go nearer:
If this be she, he has some cause of Sorrow:

'Tis the same Face; the same most excellent Woman.

Col. This shou'd be Lord Leontius: I remember him.

Leon. Lady, I think ye know me.

Col. Speak soft, good Soldier:

I do, and know ye worthy, know ye noble;

Know me not yet openly, as you love me;

But let me see ye again, I'll satisfy ye:

I'm wondrous glad to see those Eyes.

Leon. You've charg'd me.

Col. You shall know where I am.

Leon. I will not offer yet:

She goes to knock at's Door: This must be she

The Fellow told me of; right glad I'm on't.

He will bolt now for certain.

Col. Are ye within, Sir?

I'll trouble ye no more; I thank your Courtesy,

Pray leave me now.

All Men. We rest your humble Servants.

[Ex. Men. &c.]

Col. So now my Gyves are off; Pray Heav'n he be here!

Master, my Royal Sir; Do you hear who calls ye?

Love, my Demetrius.

Leon. These are pretty Quail-pipes,

The Cock will crow anon.

Col. Can ye be drowsy, when I call at your Window?

Leon.

Leon. I hear him stirring: Now he comes wondring out.

Enter Demetrius.

Dem. 'Tis Celia's Sound sure;
The sweetness of that Tongue draws all Hearts to it;
There stands the Shape too.

Leon. How he stares upon her?

Dem. Ha? Do mine Eyes abuse me?

'Tis she, the living Celia: Your Hand, Lady?

Cel. What shou'd this mean?

Dem. The very self-same Celia.

Cel. How do ye, Sir?

Dem. Only turn'd brave;
I heard you were dead, my dear one; compleat,
She is wondrous brave, a wondrous gallant Courier.

Cel. How he surveys me round? Here has been foul

Dem. How came she thus? [play.

Cel. It was a kind of Death, Sir.

I suffer'd in your Absence, mew'd up here,
And kept conceal'd I know not how.

Dem. 'Tis likely;

How came you hither, Celia? Wondrous Gallant;
Did my Father send for ye?

Cel. So they told me, Sir, and on command too.

Dem. I hope you were obedient?

Cel. I was so ever.

Dem. And ye were bravely us'd?

Cel. I wanted nothing;

My Maiden-head to a mote i'th' Sun, he's Jealous:
I must now play the Knave with him, though I die for't,
'Tis in my Nature.

Dem. Her very Eyes are alter'd:
Jewels and rich ones too, I never saw yet—
And what were those came for ye?

Cel. Monstrous Jealous;
Have I liv'd at the rate of these scorn'd Questions?
They seem'd of good sort, Gentlemen.

Dem. Kind Men? [ing to 'em;

Cel. They were wondrous kind: I was much behold-
There was one Menippus, Sir.

Dem. Ha?

Cel. One Menippus,

A notable merry Lord, and a good Companion.

Dem. And one Charintbus too?

Cel. Yes, there was such a one.

Dem. And Timon?

Cel. 'Tis most true.

Dem. And thou most treacherous:

My Father's Bawds by—they never miss course;
And were these daily with ye?

Cel. Ev'ry hour, Sir.

Dem. And was there not a Lady, a fat Lady?

Cel. O yes; a notable good Wench.

Dem. Th' Devil fetch her.

Cel. 'Tis ev'n the merriest Wench——

Dem. Did she keep with ye too?

Cel. Sh' was all in all; my Bed-fellow, eat with me,
Brought me acquainted.

Dem. You are well known here then?

Cel. There is no living here a Stranger, I think.

Dem. How came ye by this brave Gown?

Cel. This a poor one:

Alas, I've twenty richer: Do you see these Jewels?

Why, they're the poorest things, to those are sent me,
And sent me hourly too.

Dem. Is there no Modesty? No Faith in this fair

Leon. What will this prove to? [Sex?

For, yet with all my Wits, I understand not.

Dem. Come hither; thou art dead indeed, lost, taint-

All that I left thee fair, and innocent, [ed;

Sweet as thy Youth, and carrying Comfort in't;

All that I hop'd for Virtuous is fled from thee,

Turn'd black and Bankrupt.

Leon. By'r Lady, this cuts shrewdly. [thee;

Dem. Thou'rt dead, for ever dead; Sin's surfeit slew

Th' Ambition of those wanton Eyes betray'd thee;

Go from me, Grave of Honour; go, thou foul one,

Thou glory of thy Sin, go thou despis'd one;

And where there is no Virtue, nor no Virgin,

Where Chastity was never known, nor heard of: [ness;

Where nothing reigns but impious Lust and Loose-

Go thither, Child of Blood, and sing my Doating.

Cel. You do not speak this seriously I hope, Sir;

I did but jest with you.

Dem.

Dem. Look not upon me,
There is more Hell in those Eyes, than Hell harbours;
And when they flame, more Torments.

Cel. Dare ye trust me?
You durst once ev'n with all you had, your Love, Sir?
By this fair Light I'm honest.

Dem. Thou subtle Circe,
Cast not upon the maiden Light Eclipses:
Curse not the Day.

Cel. Come, come, you shall not do this:
How fain you wou'd seem angry now to fright me;
You are not in the Field among your Enemies;
Come, I must cool this Courage.

Dem. Out, thou Impudence,
Thou Ulcer of thy Sex; when I first saw thee,
I drew into mine Eyes mine own Destruction,
I pull'd into my Heart that sudden Poison,
That now consumes my dear Content to Cinders:
I am not now Demetrius, thou hast chang'd me;
Thou Woman, with thy thousand Wiles hast chang'd me;
Thou Serpent with thy Angel-Eyes hast slain me;
And where, before I touch'd on this fair Ruin,
I was a Man, and Reason staid, and mov'd me,
Now one great lump of Grief, I grow and wander.

Cel. And as you're noble, do you think I did this?

Dem. Put all thy Devil's Wings on, and fly from me.

Cel. I will go from ye, never more to see ye:
I will fly from ye, as a Plague hangs o'er me;
And through the progress of my Life hereafter;
Where ever I shall find a Fool, a false Man,
One that ne'er knew the worth of polish'd Virtue,
A base suspector of a Virgin's Honour,
A Child that flings away the Wealth he cry'd for,
Him will I call Demetrius: That Fool Demetrius,
That Madman a Demetrius; and that false Man,
The Prince of broken Faiths, even Prince Demetrius.
You think now, I should cry, and kneel down to ye,
Petition for my Peace; let those that feel here
The weight of Evil, wait for such a Favour,
I am above your Hate, as far above it,
In all the Actions of an innocent Life,
As the pure Stars are from the muddy Meteors.

Cry when you know your Folly; howl and curse then,
Beat that unmanly Breast, that holds a false Heart

When ye shall come to know, whom y' have stung from

Dem. Pray ye stay a little.

[Lye.]

Cel. Not your Hopes can alter me;

Then let a thousand black Thoughts muster in ye,

And with those enter in a thousand Doatings;

Those Eyes be never shut, but drop to nothing:

My Innocence for ever haunt and fright ye:

Those Arms together grow in Folds; that Tongue,

That bold bad Tongue that barks out these Disgraces,

When you shall come to know how nobly Virtuous

I have preserv'd my Life, rot, rot within ye.

Dem. What shall I do?

Cel. Live a lost Man for ever.

Go ask your Father's Conscience what I suffer'd,

And through what Seas of hazards I sail'd through:

Mine Honour still advanc'd in spite of Tempests,

Then take your leave of Love; and confess freely,

You were ne'er worthy of this Heart that serv'd ye:

And so farewell, ungrateful— [Exit.]

Dem. Is she gone?

Leon. I'll follow her, and will find out this matter. [Ex.]

Enter Antigonus, and Lords.

Ant. Are ye pleas'd now? Ha' you got your Heart again?

Have I restor'd ye that?

Dem. Sir, ev'n for Heav'n sake,

And sacred Truth, tell me how ye found her.

Ant. I will, and in few words. Before I try'd her,

'Tis true, I thought her most unfit your Fellowship,

And fear'd her too: Which Fear begot that Story

I told ye first: But since, like Gold I touch'd her.

Dem. And how, dear Sir?

Ant. Heav'n's holy Light's not purer:

The Constancy, and Goodness of all Women

That ever liv'd, to win the Names of worthy,

This noble Maid has doubled in her Honour,

All promises of Wealth, all Art to win her,

And by all Tongues employ'd, wrought as much on her

As one may do upon the Sun at Noon-day

By

By lighting Candles up : Her Shape is Heav'nly,
And to that Heav'nly Shape her Thoughts are Angels.

Dem. Why did you tell me, Sir ?

Ant. 'Tis true, I err'd in't :

But since I made a full proof of her Virtue,

I find a King too poor a Servant for her.

Love her, and honour her, in all observe her.

She must be something more than Time yet tells her ;

And certain I believe him blest, enjoys her.

I would not lose the hope of such a Daughter,

To add another Empire to my Honour. — [Exit.

Dem. O wretched State ! To what end shall I turn me ?

And where begins my Penance ? Now, what service

Will win her Love again ? My Death must do it ;

And if that Sacrifice can purge my Follies,

Be pleas'd, O mighty Love, I die thy Servant. — [Exit.

ACT V. SCENE I.

Enter Leontius, and Celia.

Leon. I Know he does not deserve ye ; h'as us'd you poorly :

And to redeem himself —

Cel. Redeem ?

Leon. I know it —

There's no way left.

Cel. For Heav'n's sake do not name him,

Do not think on him, Sir, he's so far from me

In all my Thoughts now, methinks I never knew him.

Leon. But yet I wou'd see him again.

Cel. No, never, never.

Leon. I do not mean to lend him any Comfort ;

But to afflict him, so to torture him,

That ev'n his very Soul may shake within him :

To make him know, though he be great and powerful,

'Tis not within his Aim to deal dishonourably,

And carry it off, and with a Maid of your sort.

Cel. I must confess, I cou'd most spitefully
Afflict him ; now, I cou'd whet m' Anger at him ;

Now,

Now, arm'd with bitterness, I cou'd shoot through him ;
I long to vex him.

Leon. And do it home, and bravely.

Cel. Were I a Man ?

Leon. I'll help that weakness in ye :
I honour ye, and serve ye.

Cel. Not only to disclaim me,
When he had seal'd his Vows in Heav'n, sworn to me,
And poor believing I became his Servant ;
But most maliciously to brand my Credit,
Stain my pure Name.

Leon. I wou'd not suffer it :
See him I wou'd again, and to his Teeth too.
Od's precious, I wou'd ring him such a Lesson——

Cel. I have done that already.

Leon. Nothing, nothing ;
It was too poor a Purge ; besides, by this time
He has found his Fault, and feels the Hells that follow it.
That, and your urg'd-on Anger to the highest,
Why, 'twill be such a stroke——

Cel. Say he repent then,
And seek with Tears to soften, I'm a Woman ;
A Woman that have lov'd him, Sir, have honour'd him :
I am no more.

Leon. Why, you may deal thereafter.

Cel. If I forgive him, I am lost.

Leon. Hold there then,
The support will be to what a poor Submission——
But keep you strong.

Cel. I would not see him.

Leon. Yes.
You shall ring his Knell.

Cel. How if I kill him ?

Leon. Kill him ? why, let him die.

Cel. I know 'tis fit so.
But why shou'd I, that lov'd him once, destroy him ?
O had he scap'd this Sin, what a brave Gentleman——

Leon. I must confess, had this not faln, a nobler,
A handfomer, the whole World had not shov'd ye ;
And to his making such a Mind——

Cel. 'Tis certain :
But all this I must now forget.

Leon.

Leon. You shall not
If I have any Art: Go up, sweet Lady,
And trust my Truth.

Cel. But, good Sir, bring him not.

Leon. I wou'd not for the Honour ye are born to,
But you shall see him, and neglect him too, and scorn him.

Cel. You will be near me then.

Leon. I will be with ye,
Yet there's some hope to stop this gap, I'll work hard.

[Exit.]

SCENE II. Enter Antigonus, Menippus, two Gentlemen, Lieutenant, and Lords.

Ant. But is it possible this Fellow took it?

2 Gent. It seems so by the violence it wrought with,
Yet now the Fit's ev'n off.

Men. I beseech your Grace.

Ant. Nay, I forgive thy Wife with all my Heart,
And am right glad she drank it not herself,
And more glad that the Virtuous Maid escap'd it, [dier,
I wou'd not for the World 't had hit: But that this Sol-
Lord how he looks, that he should take this Vomit;
Can he make Rhimes too?

2 Gent. H'as made a thousand, Sir,
And plays the Burden to 'em on a Jew's-trump.

Ant. He looks as though he were bepist: Do you love me, Sir?

Lieu. Yes surely, ev'n with all my Heart.

Ant. I thank ye;

I am glad I have so good a Subject: But pray ye tell me,
How much did ye love me, before ye drank this Matter?

Lieu. Ev'n as much as a sober Man might; and a Soldier

That your Grace owes just half a Year's pay to.

Ant. Well remembred;

And did I seem so young and amiable to ye?

Lieu. Methought you were the sweetest Youth——

Ant. That's excellent.

Lieu. Ay truly, Sir; and ever as I thought on ye,
I wish'd, and wish'd——

Ant. What didst thou wish, prithee?

Lieu. Ev'n, that I had been a Wench of fifteen for ye,
A handfom Wench, Sir.

Ant.

Ant. Why? God a-mercy Soldier:
I seem not so now to thee.

Lieu. Not all out:

And yet I have a Grudging to your Grace still.

Ant. Thou wast ne'er in Love before?

Lieu. Not with a King.

And hope I shall ne'er be again: Truly, Sir,

I have had such Plunges, and such Bickrings,

And as it were such runnings atilt within me,

For whatsoever it was provok'd me tow'rd ye.

Ant. God a-mercy still.

Lieu. I had it with a vengeance,

It plaid his Prize.

Ant. I'd not have been a Wench then,

Though of this Age.

Lieu. No sure, I should have spoil'd ye.

Ant. Well, go thy ways, of all the lusty Lovers

That e'er I saw — wilt have another Potion?

Lieu. If you will be another thing, have at ye.

Ant. Ha, ha, ha; give me thy Hand, from henceforth thou'rt my Soldier,

Do bravely, I'll love thee as much.

Lieu. I thank ye;

But if you were mine Enemy, I would not wish it ye:

I beseech your Grace, pay me my Charge.

2 Gent. That's certain, Sir;

H'as bought up all that ere he found was like ye,

Or any thing you've lov'd, that he could purchase;

Old Horses, that your Grace had ridden blind, and foundr'd;

Dogs, rotten Hawks, and which is more than all this,

Has worn your Grace's Gauntlet in his Bonnet.

Ant. Bring in your Bills: Mine own love shall be sa-

And, Sirrah, for this Potion you have taken, [tisfy'd;

I'll point ye out a Portion ye shall live on.

Men. 'Twas the best draught that e'er ye drunk.

Lieu. I hope so.

Ant. Are the Princes come to th' Court?

Men. They are all, and lodg'd, Sir.

Ant. Come then, make ready for their Entertainment,

Which presently we'll give: Wait you on me, Sir.

Lieu. I shall love Drink the better whilst I live, Boys.

[Exeunt.

SCENE

SCENE III. Enter Demetrius, and Leontius.

Dem. Let me but see her, dear Leontius?

Let me but die before her.

Leon. Wou'd that wou'd do it:

If I knew where she lay now, with what honesty,

You having flung so main a Mischief on her,

And on so innocent and sweet a Beauty,

Dare I present your Visit?

Dem. I'll repent all:

And with the greatest Sacrifice of Sorrow,

That ever Lover made.

Leon. 'Twill be too late, Sir:

I know not what will become of you.

Dem. You can help me.

Leon. It may be to her sight: What are you nearer?

Sh'as sworn she will not speak to ye, look upon ye;

And to love ye again, O she cries out, and thunders,

She had rather Love——There is no hope——

Dem. Yes, Leontius,

There is a hope, which though it draw no Love to it,

At least will draw her to lament my Fortune,

And that hope shall relieve me.

Leon. Hark ye, Sir, hark ye:

Say I should bring ye——

Dem. Do not trifle with me?

Leon. I will not trifle; both together bring ye,

You knew the wrongs ye've done.

Dem. I do confess 'em.

Leon. And if you shou'd then jump into your Fury,

And have another Querck in your Head.

Dem. I'll die first.

Leon. You must say nothing to her; for 'tis certain,

The Nature of your Crime will admit no Excuse.

Dem. I will not speak, mine Eyes shall tell my Penance.

Leon. You must look wondrous sad too.

Dem. I need not look so,

I'm truly Sadness self.

Leon. That Look will do it:

Stay here, I'll bring her to you instantly:

But take heed how you bear yourself: Sit down there,

The more humble you are, they more she'll take Compassion.

Women

Women are per'ious Things to deal upon. [Exit.

Dem. What shall become of me? to curse my Fortune,
Were but to curse my Father; that's too impious;
But under whatsoever Fate I suffer,
Bless, I beseech thee, Heav'n, her harmless Goodness.

Enter Leontius and Celia.

Leon. Now arm yourself.

Cel. You have not brought him?

Leon. Yes, faith,

And there he is: You see in what poor plight too,
Now you may do your will, kill him, or save him.

Cel. I will go back.

Leon. I will be hang'd then, Lady:

Are you a Coward now?

Cel. I cannot speak to him.

Dem. Oh me!

Leon. There was a Sigh to blow a Church down;
So, now their Eyes are fixt, the small Shot plays,
They will come to th' Battery anon.

Cel. He weeps extremely.

Leon. Rail at him now.

Cel. I dare not.

Leon. I am glad on't.

Cel. Nor dare believe his Tears.

Dem. You may, blest Beauty,

For those thick streams that troubled my Repentance,
Are crept out long ago.

Leon. You see how he looks.

Cel. What have I to do how he looks? how lookt he
When with a poison'd Tooth he bit mine Honour?
It was your Council too, to scorn and slight him.

Leon. Ay, if ye saw fit cause; and you confest too,
Except this Sin, he was the bravest Gentleman,
The sweetest, noblest: I take nothing from ye,
Nor from your Anger; use him as you please:
For to say truth, he has deserv'd your justice;
But still consider what he has been to you.

Cel. Pray do not blind me thus.

Dem. O gentle Mistress,

If there were any way to expiate
A Sin so great as mine, by Intercession,
By Prayers, by daily Tears, by dying for ye;

O what

O what a Joy would close those Eyes that love ye.
Leon. They say Women have tender Hearts; I know
 I am sure mine melts. [Exit.]

Cel. Sir, I forgive ye heartily,
 And all your Wrong to me I cast behind me,
 And with you a fit Beauty to your Virtues now I am
 Mine is too poor; in peace I part thus from you;
 I must look back: Gods keep you Grace; He's here still.

Dem. She has forgiven me. [Exit.]

Leon. She has directed ye;
 Up, up, and follow like a Man; Away, Sir,
 She lookt behind her twice, Her Heart dwells here, Sir;
 Ye drew Tears from her too: She cannot freeze thus;
 The Door's set open too, are ye a Man?
 Are ye alive? do you understand her meaning?
 Have ye Blood and Spirit in ye?

Dem. I dare not trouble her.

Leon. Nay, an you will be nipt i'th' head with nothing;
 Walk whining up and down; I dare not, cannot;
 Strike now or never: Faint Heart, you know what, Sir;
 Be govern'd by your Fear, and quench your Fire out!
 A Devil on't, stands this Door ope for nothing?
 So get ye together, and be naught: Now to secure all,
 Will I go fetch out a more sovereign Plaster. [Exit.]

SCENE IV. Enter Antigonus, Seleucus, Lyfinachus, Ptolomy, Lieutenant, Gentlemen, and Lords.

Ant. This Peace is fairly made.

Sel. Would your Grace wish us
 To put in more: Take what you please, we yield it;
 The Honour done us by your Son constrains it,
 Your noble Son.

Ant. It is sufficient, Princes;
 And now we're one again, one Mind, one Body,
 And one sword shall strike for us.

Lyf. Let Prince Demetrius
 But lead us on: For we are his vow'd Servants;
 Against the Strength of all the World we'll buckle.

Ptol. And ev'n from that Strength we'll catch at

Sel. O had I now recover'd but the Fortune of Victory.
 I lost in Antioch, when mine Uncle perish'd;
 But that were but to forfeit me with Blessings.

Lyf. You lost a sweet Child there.

Sel. Name it no more, Sir, I shall know you steady O
This is no Time to entertain such Sorrows; [Prince,
Will your Majesty do us the Honour, we may see the
And wait upon him?

Enter. Leontius.

Ant. I wonder he stays from us;

How now, Leontius, where's my Son?

Sel. Brave Captain, God's head you fool I must look back

Lys. Old valiant Sir, she has forgiven me.

Leon. Your Graces all are welcome;

Your Son, and't please you, Sir, is now cashier'd yonder,

Cast from his Mistress Favour; And such a coil there is;

Such sending, and such proving; she stands off,

And will by no means yield to Composition;

He offers any Price; his Body to her.

Sel. She's a hard Lady, that denies that caution;

Leon. And now they whine, and now they rave: Faith

'Twere a good point of Charity to piece 'em; [Princes,

For less than such a Pow'r will do just nothing;

And if you mean to see him, there it must be,

For there will he grow, 'till he be transplanted.

Sel. Beseech your Grace, let's wait upon you thither,

That I may see that Beauty dares deny him,

That scornful Beauty.

Ptol. I should think it worse now;

I'll brought up Beauty.

Ant. She has too much reason for't;

Which with too great a Grief, I shame to think of.

But we'll go see this Game.

Lys. Rather this Wonder.

Ant. Be you our Guide, Leontius, here's a new Peace.

[Exeunt.]

SCENE V. Enter Demetrius and Colias.

Col. Thus far you shall persuade me, still to honour ye,

Still to live with ye, Sir, or near about ye;

For not to lye, you have my first and last Love:

But since you have conceiv'd an Evil against me,

An Evil that so much concerns your Honour,

That Honour aim'd by all at for a Pattern:

And though there be a false Thought, and confess'd too,

And much Repentance fall'n in show 'rs to purge it;

Yet, while that great Respect I ever bore ye,

Dwell

Dwells in my Blood, and in my Heart that Duty ;
Had it but been a Dream, I must not touch ye.

Dem. O you will make some other happy ?

Cel. Never,
Upon this Hand I'll seal that Faith.

Dem. We may kiss,
Put not thote o'th' Peace too.

Cel. Those I'll give ye,
So there you will be pleas'd to pitch your ne ultra,
I will be merry with ye ; Sing, Discourse with ye,
Be your poor Mistress still : In Truth I love ye,

Enter Leontius, Antigonus, Seleucus, Lyfimachus,
Ptolomy, Lieutenant, and Gentlemen.

Dem. Stay, who are these ?

Lys. A very handsome Lady.

Leon. As e'er you saw.

Sel. Pity her Heart's so cruel. [hear us.

Lys. How does your Grace ? He stands still, will not

Ptol. We come to serve ye, Sir, in all our Fortunes.

Lys. He bows a little now ; he's strangely alter'd. [ye,

Sel. Ha ? Pray ye a word, Leontius, pray ye a word with Lyfimachus ? You both knew mine Enanthe,
I lost in Antioch, when the Town was taken,
Mine Uncle slain, Antigonus had the sack on't ?

Lys. Yes, I remember well the Girl.

Sel. Methinks now
That Face is wondrous like her : I have her Picture ;
The same, but more Years on her ; the very same.

Lys. A Cherry to a Cherry is not liker.

Sel. Look on her Eyes.

Leon. Most certain she is like her :
Many a time have I dandled her in these Arms, Sir,
And I hope who will more.

Ant. What's that ye look at, Princes ?

Sel. This Picture, and that Lady, Sir.

Ant. Ha ! they are near :
They only err in time.

Lys. Did you mark that Blush there ?
That came the nearest.

Sel. I must speak to her.

Leon. You'll quickly be resolv'd.

Sel. Your Name, sweet Lady ?

Cel.

Cl. Enantbe, Sir : And this to beg your Blessing.

Sel. Do you know me?

Cl. If you be the King Seleucus,
I know you are my Father.

Sel. Peace a little,
Where did I lose ye?

Cl. At the Sack of Antioch,
Where my good Uncle dy'd, and I was taken,
By a mean Soldier taken : By this Prince,
This noble Prince, redeem'd from him again,
Where ever since I have remain'd his Servant.

Sel. My Joys are now too full : Welcome Enantbe,
Mine own, my dearest and my best Enantbe.

Dem. And mine too desperate.

Sel. You shall not think so.
This is a Peace indeed.

Ant. I hope it shall be,
And ask it first.

Cl. Most Royal, Sir, ye have it.

Dem. I once more beg it thus.

Sel. You must not be deny'd, Sir.

Cl. By me, I am sure he must not : Sure he shall not ;
Kneeling I give it too ; kneeling I take it ;
And from this hour, no envious Spight e'er part us.

All. The Gods give happy Joys ; all Comforts to ye.

Dem. My new Enantbe.

Ant. Come, beat all the Drums up,
And all the noble Instruments of War :
Let 'em fill all the Kingdom with their Sounds ;
And those the brazen Arch of Heav'n break through,
While to the Temple we conduct these two.

Leon. May they be ever loving, ever young,
And ever worthy of those Lines they sprung ;
May their fair Issues walk with Time along.

Lieu. And hang a Coward now ; and there's my Song.

[Exeunt omnes.]
